WITH 46 men and women either in the county jail or free on bail, as the result of a county wide liquor raid, conducted here yesterday and last night by officers of the district attorney's office and the sheriff, squads of officers today were "beating the bushes" for some 25 or 30 others, charged with sale of liquor, who escaped the round of the first 24 hours.

Predictions were made that at least 20 others would be arrested today and tonight.

In the meantime, the jail, the district attorney's office and the justice court is a scene of much activity, with the accused and their friends hurrying to get bail posted, or to plead guilty and have their fines set, or to be arraigned for trial later.

Many of those arrested already have signified their intention of pleading guilty and accepting a fine, while others want trials. Those who want to plead guilty probably will be accommodated in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this afternoon. Others have had their preliminary examinations set, most of which have been set for Friday morning.

Those arrested, represent almost all parts of the county. All are charged with sale of liquor, and bail in all their cases have been set at $1,000. The list of those captured in the raid so far, are:
Jim Garrett, Huntington Beach;
Mrs. Dorothy Mahon, 21, Sunset

U. S. Officials at Juarez Warn Against Menace To Americans

BULLETIN
NOGALES, Ariz., March 7.—
(UP)—The body of an American engineer, Floyd Thompson, 27, badly beaten and with a bullet hole through the head, was found on the international line today.

Both Mexican revolutionary leaders and American officials started an investigation to determine where Thompson had been murdered and to identify his slayers.

It was apparent that since scores of soldiers and citizens were within earshot of the place where his body was found that the dead man had been killed some distance away and then brought to the line.

(By United Press)
MEXICAN federal troops struck heavily at rebels on two fronts today, pushing the government's campaign in Vera Cruz state toward a successful conclusion after severe fighting and renewing the concentrated offensive in the north.

The government announced the fall of Vera Cruz, important southeastern coastal city, after a drawn-out battle. Casualties were not known but the government statement indicated that there had been considerable bloodshed.

Rebels in the northern Sonora area were making hurried preparations to meet the expected federal assault on the northern strongholds. Federals already had penetrated to San Luis, Sonora border, it was reported, and Major Daniel Calvan saved Juarez, key city of northern Mexico, for the government forces.

Gen. Escobar, chief rebel leader was reported concentrating his troops at Torreon, preparing to meet federals in battle in that area.

General Manzo, rebel leader, apparently still held the western coast region in Sonora and Sinaloa and was reported to have captured Culiacan in the latter state.

The United States officials at Fort Bliss, Tex., warned authorities at Juarez that any revolutionary fighting there that might menace Americans would result in protective measures by the United States army.

The Mexican capital remained calm, although American Ambassador Morrow had provided a committee to advise tourists and foreign visitors on the best route to the United States.

Hardy Witnesses Must Testify Or Forfeit Property

SACRAMENTO, March 7.—(UP)— Witnesses in the impeachment trial of Judge Carlos Hardy, of Los Angeles, who are outside California may be forced to come here to testify on penalty of forfeiture of all their property in the state.
Resort to this legal strategy may be undertaken by the board of managers who will conduct the trial, according to Assemblyman Walter J. Little, of Los Angeles, member of the board.

The matter of compelling witnesses to appear before the state senate in the trial has been the subject of much legal research by the committee. The impeachment trial where Judge Hardy will be accused of misdemeanors and misconduct in office starts March 18.

Reclamation Commissioner Calls Conference To Be Held In Denver

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, March 7.—
Reclamation Commissioner Mead has called a conference of his western engineering staff to meet in Denver Friday when plans for beginning work on Boulder dam next year will be discussed, he said today. While enroute to Denver he will stop at the University of Illinois and Iowa State college to lecture on the dam.

"The reclamation bureau," Mead explained, is going ahead with its plans on the supposition that the seven state compact necessary to give force to the Boulder dam bill will be ratified.

Five states have approved the measure already. Both the Utah senate and house of representatives have voted favorably on the measure but the governor has not yet signed it. Arizona has not passed on it.

Expenditure of the $10,000,000 provided for work on the dam during 1930 is the most important question to be tackled by Mead and his engineers at Denver. He proposes to have everything in shape to begin work as soon as the conditions prescribed by congress.

A fund of $225,000 has been appropriated by congress for immediate engineering surveys of the dam site.

Mead will confer with R. F.
Walter, the bureau's engineer at Denver, who probably will supervise the dam construction, about the survey.

While in the west Mead will talk with irrigation clients of the government about renewal of their contracts.

Proclamation Issued Today
By President

Plans Call for Completion Of Work July 1—Farm Relief Paramount

WASHINGTON, March 7.—
(UP)—President Hoover formally summoned congress into extra session today, fixing the date for convening on April 15. The president, in his proclamation, the first he has issued, made the call for the session to consider further agricultural relief and legislation for limited changes in the tariff.

While the president specified only farm relief and tariff revision, congress may take up whatever legislation it desires.

It is expected that Mr. Hoover will seek repeal of the national origins provisions of the 1924 immigration act as well as transfer of prohibition enforcement machinery from the treasury to the justice department.

The proclamation reads:
"Whereas, public interests require that the congress of the United States should be convened in extra session at 12 o'clock noon on the 15th day of April, 1929, to receive such communications as may be made by the executive;
And, whereas, legislation to effective further agricultural relief
and legislation for limited changes of the tariff cannot in justice to our farmers, our labor and our manufacturers be postponed:

"Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, president of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary session requires the congress of the United States to convene in extra session at the capitol in the city of Washington on the 15th day of April, 1929, at 12 o'clock noon, of which all persons who shall at that time be entitled to act as members thereof are hereby required to take notice.

"In witness, whereof, I hereunto set my hand and cause to be affixed the great seal of the United States.

"Done at the city of Washington, this seventh day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and fifty-third.

(Signed) "HERBERT HOOVER."

The session was called by President Hoover during the closing days of his campaign for consideration of farm relief and tariff revision, a move sponsored largely by Senator Borah of Idaho.

The plan is to complete the work of the extra session by July 1, if possible, though a senate threat to reopen the tariff for general revision, instead of limiting it to compensatory few items, and pressure to take up additional legislation may run the session beyond that date.

WINS OUT OVER COL. STEWART

ANTI-HANGING MEASURE WILL BE VOTED ON BY SOLONS IN SACRAMENTO NEXT MONDAY

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
United Press Staff Correspondent
SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 7.—(UP)—Two perennial measures, search and seizure and capital punishment, went to the bottom of the bill file in the state legislature today after committee hearings that shook the statehouse to its foundation.

One of the bills, by Assemblyman William Hornblower of San Francisco, proposed to incorporate provisions of the Volstead act into California's dry law, strengthening regulations against search of private homes for liquor. It failed of a "do pass" vote in committee by a 9 to 6 vote.

Abolition of the gallows in this state as a penalty for murder, was argued by Senator Roy Fellow of San Francisco and a brilliant array of speakers. The measure is scheduled for a vote next Monday.

Witnesses for the anti-hanging measure included Twain Michelson, San Francisco attorney; Noel Sullivan, San Francisco attorney; Judge Jackson H. Ralston, Palo Alto, and Sol S. Klein, chairman of the subcommittee of the Los Angeles bar association to investigate capital punishment.

Personal charges were hurled at
Dr. Briggs by Senator George Rochester of Los Angeles, who accused Briggs of being a "misrepresenting, misinforming sneak."
Rochester declared that Briggs had appeared in his district during the last campaign and falsified statements against him.

Just as the meeting threatened to break into a fist fight, Assemblyman Harry Sewell of Whittier, chairman, demanded order and a return to consideration of the bill.

Legislators moved to get the day's work out of the way promptly, so they could prepare for the grand ball at the municipal auditorium tonight. The party is being given by the California state employees' association, of which John T. Stafford, clerk of the district court of appeals, is president.

his business career today when he succeeded in ousting Col.
Robert W. Stewart from the board of directors of the Standard Oil company, of Indiana.

In a meeting surcharged with personal animosities born of months of fighting between the two giants, the shareholders voted to throw Stewart out and elected in his place Dr. Wm. Marium Burton, former president of the company and inventor of the patented process for "cracking" crude oil.

BY EARL J. JOHNSON

WHITING, Ind., March 7.—(UP)—
The road shouldered son of an Iowa blacksmith today challenged the son of the world's richest man for control of the billion-dollar Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

Hours before the combatants entered the arena odds were running heavily against Colonel Robert W.
Stewart. It appeared that nothing short of a miracle could save him from expulsion from the company directorate as demanded by John D. Rockefeller jr.

Despite the inequalities of the contest, 2500 stockholders and a corps of newspapermen, worthy of a championship prize fight, started early for the scene of battle, the Whiting Community memorial which was built by Rockefeller funds.

Six years ago, before there was a Teapot Dome scandal and before Rockefeller raised the issue of "moral fitness" upon which he hopes to have Colonel Stewart thrown out of his $125,000 a year job, John D. jr. gave the oil tank town of Whiting $600,000 with which to build this memorial to the heroes of the World war.

Today the building is the locale of the most spectacular financial battle in history, with the people of Whiting—about 90 per cent of whose breadwinners are Standard Oil employees—turned against Rockefeller.

Long before the noon hour set for the meeting of the company stockholders who are to pass upon Rockefeller's demands, committees appointed by both sides finished

LAMONT LISTED AS PROHIBITION FOE

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(UP)—
Robert P. Lamont, new secretary of commerce in the Hoover cabinet, is listed as a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment in the recent annual report of that organization.
It was said at the association's office here today.

Secretary Lamont was in New York today and his office could not say whether he has resigned from the anti-prohibition association since entering the Hoover cabinet.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—

tinued to puzzle relatives and people.

Fear that the young man, who city from Los Angeles, had either fallen or leaped overboard and drowned, mounted steadily.

46 ARRESTED BY OFFICERS IN HUGE RAID

Beach; W. P. Snyder, 59, painter, Sunset Beach; Harry Wood, 27, laborer, Huntington Beach; M. C. Stanley, 45, hotel man, Huntington Beach; J. D. Laney, mechanic, Huntington Beach and O. C. Laney, 38, battery shop operator, Huntington Beach.

There were nine women arrested in the drive of yesterday and last night, most of whom were still in the county jail today. They are: Maria Garay, 59, Delhi; Frances Ruiz, 31, Fullerton; Mrs. George Boyer, 60, 121 Sixth street, Huntington Beach; Bernice Meeks, 20, Huntington Beach; Consuelo Saldiver, 28, Third street, Santa Ana; Dometella Esquivel, 30, Lincoln street, Santa Ana; Concepcion Gonzalez, 63, Logan street, Santa Ana; F. Salvador, 25, 1027 Logan street, Santa Ana; and Maxima Marmolito, 45, of Atwood.

Although the drive for liquor was far more successful than even the sheriff's forces expected, so far as the arrests were concerned, there was little color in the making of arrests.

Warrants were flashed and the men or women wanted all came along peaceably. There were three exceptions. At one place on Logan street, here yesterday, a Mexican jumped out of a window after breaking out the glass, just to fall in the arms of another officer outside, and at another place a Mexican escaped for a minute or two, only to be found behind a door in another house by Jesse Elliott, constable, one of the raiding officers.

In the house where approximately five gallons of wine were found, the prisoners were taken outside and the wine left inside with an officer guarding it. A woman, who was not wanted at the time, suddenly sneaked into the house and attempted to steal the evidence, it was said. She failed to see the officer in the room until she had grabbed one of the bottles. She was brought to jail with the others and is charged with possession of liquor.

Of those arrested only a few had made bail late this morning, although almost a third of them were preparing to make bail before the day was over. Those granted bail at the present time are: Harry Wood, Huntington Beach, $1,000; M. C. Stanley, Huntington Beach, $1,000; Dorothy Mahon, Sunset Beach, $1,000; Jim Garrett, Huntington Beach, $1,000, and Frank Higley, Seal Beach, $3,000.

Higley's bail was higher, it was said, because he had twice before been convicted of liquor traffic. Two of the men arrested today had already pleaded guilty to possession of liquor, after sale charges against them had been reduced and had paid their fines in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court. Both were fined $500 each. They were: Sherman Morris, and Jimmy Burns, both of Sunset Beach.

Santa Ana police officers, under L. C. Rogers, chief of police, aided the sheriff and district attorney forces in the roundup of more than a dozen Santa Ana men and women wanted for liquor sales.

ADVANCE MADE BY EDUCATION IN JAPAN TOLD

Taking as his topic the resemblance between modern Japan and the United States, Dr. Roy Akagi, authority on Japanese questions, spoke before the assembly of the Associated Students in the junior college yesterday.

The prevailing conception of the majority of people that commercial Japan is alien to the commerce of the United States was challenged by Akagi when he brought out that commercial products consumed in the foreign land are received from all parts of the United States.

That the Japanese student is early trained in the fundamentals of knowledge also was claimed by the speaker. Graduates from the high schools of Japan are well versed in three languages, he stated. Training in international relations, moreover, is begun in the primary grades and continues on throughout the entire school system. A knowledge of all nations likewise is revealed in that Japanese students greet incoming liners with songs of all nations.

Akagi is making a tour of the Pacific coast to note conditions of the Japanese in the west.

Included on the program was a trombone solo, by Professor Cianfoni, of the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music.

ROCKEFELLER SEEMS WINNER IN VOTE FIGHT

checking the proxies in the Standard Oil building in Chicago. It was said to have been determined there in advance of the formal meeting of shareholders that Stewart's fight to retain his high position in the face of Rockefeller opposition had been in vain.

Million Short

Stewart was reported to be approximately 1,000,000 proxies, or shares of Standard Oil stock, short of the number required to keep his place as chairman of the board of directors.

Thus the ultimate result of the meeting seemed to be pre-determined but in view of the public nature of the fight between the oil giants and the personal animosities it has engendered, the "convention" commanded immense popular interest.

The late "Tex" Rickard would have billed such an event as a grudge fight designed to attract the best people in the country, but it is doubtful whether his genius minus financiers or their personal representatives together in one building.

Wall street and La Salle street sent their keenest minds to the main street of Whiting, to support one or the other side. Colonel Stewart came in person to direct his battle while Rockefeller sent his brother-in-law, Winthrop W. Aldrich, and a delegation of approximately 200 big eastern stockholders to see that his demand that Stewart be ousted is carried out. Eligible to the meeting also were many of the men who work for wages in the Standard Oil refinery here. About one-third of the 4000 Whiting workers have invested in stock since Stewart deserted the role of country lawyer and worked himself up to the head of the billion-dollar concern. They have seen the company stock triple in value in ten years and they give full credit to Stewart. For that reason the employees are said to be 99.7 per cent for Stewart.

The battle of high finance runs back more than a year when Stewart became embroiled with the United States senate over his part in the mysterious Continental Trading Co. Ltd., of Canada, some of whose profits found their way to the Republican national committee. Stewart was called before a senate committee but declined to testify. He was indicted for contempt but acquitted by a district of Columbia court.

Asked To Resign

Rockefeller called upon Stewart to resign on the grounds that his connection with the Continental had proved him to be "morally unfit" to head the oil concern in which the Rockefellers owned 15 per cent of the stock.

At the share holders' meeting a year ago Rockefeller refused to vote his stock for Stewart's reelection but Stewart was re-elected anyhow.

Then began the sensational campaign to force Stewart out by obtaining permission from a majority of the stockholders to vote their stock against the colonel.

Some estimates of the amount of money Rockefeller spent on his part in the fight run as high as $1,000,000 or many times over Stewart's annual salary. Upwards of ten elaborate pieces of campaign literature were mailed to each of the 58,000 stockholders by the Rockefeller proxy committee.

Stewart, having the full support of the officers of the company and company employees, did not need such a large campaign fund, although his proxy committee, headed by President E. G. Seubert, distributed numerous letters and statements through the press.

In any kind of fight other than a "proxy war" Stewart undoubtedly would win hands down. Physically Rockefeller, although five years his junior, would be no match for Stewart. John D. is 55 years old and weighs 170 pounds. Stewart is 60 years old and weighs 240 pounds. He was one of Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders in the Spanish war and a former colonel in the national guard of North Dakota.

Whiting made elaborate plans for its one day of fame. Restaurant owners laid in extra supplies to feed the 2,500 visitors to the city of smoke and gasoline fumes. Some were of the opinion that the meeting would develop enough bickering filence that communications would be re-established in the north within the next 36 hours.

Many Deserts

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(UP)—Reported wholesale desertions from the ranks of Mexican rebel forces, and the recapture of Vera Cruz and Monterey by Federalists, raised hopes of oilfields here today that the back of the Mexican military revolt would soon be broken.

The recapture of Monterey restored to federal control one of the most strategic points in northeastern Mexico. Monterey is a railway junction on the National Railways of Mexico, 206 miles from Matamoros, opposite Brownsville, Texas, 322 miles from Tampico and 638 miles from Mexico City.

In addition to its importance as the chief railway center of the republic it is also the heart of the Mexican steel industry, sometimes called the "Chicago of Mexico." Here are located the mills of the great Compania Fundidora of Monterrey making more than 90 per cent of Mexico's manufactured steel with an annual production of 60,000 tons, employing 2500 workers.

Mexican officials here said rebel control of Chihuahua City, capital of the province of that name, would not give an important strategic advantage. To date, according to military observers here and Mexican officials, the rebels have displayed no particular strategy in points attacked except along the border. Control of border ports would, if complete, hamper shipment of arms and ammunition to federal forces in the interior and facilitate smuggling of arms to rebels across the international line.

Evidence that the rebellion is purely military and political in character has accumulated with increasing statements issued from rebel leaders Jesus Aguirre in Vera Cruz and General Borques at Nogales, Sonora, attacking former President Calles and Pascual Ortiz Rubio, Mexican officials here declare.

Ortiz Rubio, storm center of rebel leader verbal attacks, returned to international prominence Monday when the national revolutionary party named him in convention as their candidate for the presidency to succeed Provisional Portes Gil.

to warrant a night session and in that case still more food would be needed.

Each side has a slate of candidates for the new board of directors but in advance of the meeting little more accurate information could be given than Stewart would be on the regular company slate and not on the Rockefeller list.

Several men were mentioned as likely Rockefeller candidates to succeed Stewart, the most prominent of them being Dr. William Meriam Burton, former president of the company and inventor of the patented process for "cracking" crude oil.

Well, we have a new President today and everybody can look forward to several years of good times and when it's all over, don't look back on the past and say—"Well, Mell Smith offered me a watch at cost or better and I had the money and didn't buy it." Remember, opportunity knocks gently; it isn't here with a brass band.

Youths To Stand Trial On Charge Of Staging Riot

Three Long Beach youths, charged with participating in a riot, were held for answer to the superior court from Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday afternoon. Bail was fixed at $500 each.

The three boys, Floyd and Robert Swoape and Willie O'Brien, are asserted to have entered a Sunset Beach cafe several days ago, fought with the waiters and smashed the doors and windows in the place.

They were arrested by Seal Beach and Santa Ana sheriff's officers.

PROCLAMATION ISSUED TODAY BY PRESIDENT

The president has not outlined, specifically, his farm relief program, though he suggested the major points in his campaign—establishment of a federal farm board to handle marketing of surplus crops, upward revision of the tariff on agricultural products to protect the farmers' domestic market, and further development of cooperative marketing.

The measure to be presented probably will be along the line of the McNary bill of the last congress, with certain changes suggested by President Hoover. That measure provided a revolving fund of $300,000,000 to finance surplus operations by the federal farm board.

SUBWAY PLANS NOT OPPOSED BY SANTA FE

The Santa Fe Railway company will offer no serious objection before the railway commission to issuance, by the commission, of a permit for building a subway under the tracks of the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railway companies, it was intimated by Santa Fe officials in conference yesterday afternoon with a group of Santa Ana men, in Los Angeles.

The conference was held for the purpose of ascertaining the feeling of the company in the matter before Santa Ana files application for permission to make the improvement.

Santa Ana men conferring with the officials were Clyde Jenken, city engineer; George Wells, chairman of the planning commission; Col. S. H. Finley, East Fourth street property owner and George Raymar, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

MORE 'SLOW' SIGNS WILL BE INSTALLED

Installation of "slow" signs at a number of intersections in the city was decided on this morning at a conference attended by W. G. Knox, city manager, and Clyde Jenken, city engineer.

Location of the signals was recommended by Claude Rogers, city marshal, after he had made a survey of conditions. Buttons will be placed as follows, as soon as the street department can arrange for their installation.

On Ross at Fourth and Fifth streets, Van Ness and Flower at Fourth, Baker at Fourth, Mabury at Fourth, Bishop and Cubbon at Cypress and Lacy at Fourth.

VALENCIA SEASON TOPIC AT SESSION

ANAHEIM, Mar. 7.—Marketing of valencias during the coming season was the principal topic for discussion at the meeting of the Citrus league in the Elks clubhouse Tuesday night. Fifty managers of exchange houses from Orange county, Whittier and the San Diego district, were present at the 6:30 o'clock dinner which preceded the meeting.

A general discussion was held centering on marketing conditions to be expected, packing house machinery and packing methods. It was reported that no wind damage had been done to fruit in this district and that little frost damage had been experienced.

Amos Olney, vice president of the league, of Lemon Grove, presided at the meeting in the absence of George Shaddock, of Tustin.

A WORD OF COMFORT
It is a striking note in the ministry of Jesus Christ that he revealed the worth of what men undervalued or wasted or rejected. This note of contempt appeared only toward hypocrisy. As his disciple you are obligated to discover in your desolation and grief the opportunities for coming to know God better and for developing the latest strength of character and the sympathetic and helpful understanding of others which so many people ignore and discard because their hearts ache. Out of your weakness God will give you strength.

PLUMER—Mary E. Plumer, passed away at her home at Newport Heights, March 5. Services will be held at the Winbinger Mission church, officiating pastor, Rev. P. F. at 10 a. m. with Rev. Perry F. Schrock, of the First Congregational church officiating, followed by cremation. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Alice C. Plumer, and one sister, Mrs. E. Hooker, both of Newport Heights.

DIERDORFF—At Ottawa, Kansas, March 1, 1929, E. Dierdorff, age 89 years, father of R. A. and C. W. Dierdorff, Mrs. Polite, Mrs. W. F. Lindner and Miss Gertrude Dierdorff. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10:30 at the Western cemetery, Smith and Tuthill in charge.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish in this way, to express our appreciation of the countless acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy and consolation, and the beautiful flowers sent us in the hours of grief over the death of our husband and brother, the late Jack Fisher. To veterans of the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, allied patriotic bodies, and to friends in general, we offer a heart-felt gratitude for the comfort given by such acts and tokens.

SAN FRANCISCO PORT CONTROL IS SECOND AIM

Renewed hope for passage of the highway bill introduced in the legislature by Senator Nelson T. Edwards, of Orange, providing for inclusion of 600 miles of Southland roads in the secondary state system, was seen today.

The development reported to be responsible for bringing the Edwards bill to the fore was the attempt of two factions in the legislature, battling over control of the San Francisco harbor, to gain assistance from Southern California legislators in their fight. One faction is headed by Gov. C. C. Young, according to reports, which place at the head of the other group ex-Sheriff Finn, of San Francisco.

Finn wants control of the harbor placed in the hands of San Francisco, while Governor Young favors state control.

Legislators are reported to have formed an alliance to put the highway bill and the bill for San Francisco control of the harbor through both houses. It is reported that Governor Young will veto both bills.

Governor Young almost two weeks ago announced at a conference in Los Angeles that he favored elimination of the asserted inequality between the north and south in state highway mileage and said he would make official announcement of his position to the legislature. It is understood that his policy calls for final action in the matter at the next legislative session after the highway commission has made a scientific study of the highway situation.

Methods used in arriving at assessed valuations on property in Santa Ana and Orange county will be outlined by W. C. Jerome, county auditor, at the meeting, tomorrow noon, of the Santa Ana Realty board, it was announced today by Herb Allemen, secretary. William Salisbury will officiate as program chairman.

The house committee of the official board of the First Methodist church plans to paint the exterior of the church building proper and the parsonage, as soon as the necessary work on the new unit is completed. A. J. Lasby is chairman of the committee and he is assisted by E. W. Smith, George Paires, Mrs. C. E. Bruns and Mrs. W. D. Baker, in making plans for the improvements.

"Whoopie night" is promised members of Santa Ana lodge, No. 794, B.P.O.E., on Tuesday, March 12, when the annual election of officers will be held in the clubhouse, with W. R. "Stormy" Gordon presiding in the chair of the grand exalted ruler. An entertainment, with a late supper, will follow the business meeting.

Dr. H. C. Flint, 1310 South Broadway, is recovering from an attack of influenza. Dr. Flint has been a resident of Santa Ana for eight years, and is well known here.

COURT DECREE RINGS DOWN CURTAIN ON ADVENTUROUS CAREERS OF TWO YOUTHS

Careers of "adventure" for two eastern boys who came to California to see a little bit of life ended today when Superior Judge James L. Allen launched them along separate paths after they had spent 90 days in the county jail here. Although the trails lead in opposite directions, Judge Allen indicated that it will be well for the two youths if "adventure" of the type that landed them in jail here is eliminated in the future.

Joe Ramsey, whose career started in Louisville, Ky., and Albert Olori, who started his journeys from Camden, N. J., were sent to the county jail after they were alleged to have robbed a grocery store in Huntington Beach. He told them he hoped they would make good in jail and arrangements were started to send them both home when their terms expired.

Young Olori, who is 18 years old, was brought before the court today and was informed that he would be sent back to his parents. Judge Allen urgently advised the boy to try different lines of endeavor from those which he is asserted to have followed here. The boy promised to do so.

Ramsey, who also is 18 years old, found that his route led to the Preston School of Industry. It is said that he did not make good in jail, for he is alleged to have been discovered making plans for an escape.

The city police department's drive against the "overtime parking" continued today with a total of more than 60 arrests being made in the last three days. Seventeen were arrested yesterday and are due to appear in court within the next five days.

The drive appears to have had little effect on the number of violations, but L. C. Rogers, chief of police, stated that he expected fewer and fewer arrests in the next few days.

Six persons were fined $2 each in police court yesterday on charges of overtime parking. They were John Bryon, J. J. Wilson, J. W. Moore, Jesus Moreno, Mrs. A. J. Walker and the Santa Ana Building and Loan company.

Police also announced the arrest of five persons yesterday on charges of parking their automobiles on city streets between the hours of 2 and 5 a. m. They are to appear in court within the next five days.

The late Victor H. Fross, of Orange, who died on February 24, left an estate valued at $30,000, according to a petition for admitting his will to probate, filed today. The petition was filed by W. D. Granger. According to the document, the property consists chiefly of a 30-acre walnut grove.

Heirs to the estate are Verna E. Fross, widow; and Cecil Willitts, daughter, of Santa Ana.

The case of R. B. Blankenship, Union Oil employee, of Santa Fe Springs, charged with reckless driving following an automobile accident, near Irvine, last Saturday, was dismissed in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning. Evidence in the case was not sufficient, the court ruled.

The settlement provides for ample road reservations satisfactory to each side in the case, it was said. Rutan and Mize, with C. D. Swanner, Santa Ana attorneys, represented the plaintiffs. G. M. Spicer, Long Beach, represented the defendant.

The chief question at issue related to an alleged mistake in the deed whereby a 30-foot road was reserved on the south boundary of the plaintiff's land. The plaintiffs sought to have the deed reformed in this respect.

The case was scheduled for hearing in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court yesterday. Attorneys and their clients succeeded in reaching a settlement after a trip to the property.

An agreement satisfactory to all parties was announced today by attorneys representing litigants in a boundary dispute over roadways surrounding Villa Park property purchased for $170,000 from the Jotham Bixby company by F. E. Farnsworth, Luella M. Farnsworth and Mary I. Thomson.

The city police department's drive against the "overtime parking" continued today with a total of more than 60 arrests being made in the last three days. Seventeen were arrested yesterday and are due to appear in court within the next five days.

NELSON TELLS VALUE OF N. E. A. OHIO SESSIONS

Back at his desk today after two weeks' absence in the east attending the superintendents' division meetings of the National Educational association, H. G. Nelson, principal of Julia Lathrop junior high school, had brought home with him many new and interesting ideas regarding modern educational developments.

The N. E. A. meetings were held in Cleveland, O., but the members of Nelson's party stopped en route in St. Louis for a two days' attendance at the National Progressive Education association convention, made up mainly of instructors from the so-called "progressive schools" of the country, most of which are private institutions endowed by men of wealth. An exhibit of work from such schools proved extremely interesting to the Santa Ana principal, as did the address by Dr. Melkeljohn, of the University of Wisconsin, which he considered of chief importance.

"Dr. Melkeljohn is very liberal in his educational philosophy," declared Nelson, in telling of the speaker's experiments with an "unsuppressed college course" in the university. "Students may register for any studies or work they wish and at the expiration of two years are given their diplomas, which, according to Dr. Melkeljohn's contention, they will have earned by their presence and studies."

In Cleveland the N. E. A. sessions had for their general theme the full opportunity for every child's development to the full limit of its capacity, resulting in a series of meetings that were both valuable and interesting, according to Nelson. Between 15,000

Santa Anans Will Attend Nebraska Society Meeting

A number of Santa Ana folk, who formerly were residents of Hastings and Adams counties, Neb., plan to attend the annual meeting of the Hastings and Adams counties society of Southern California in Long Beach, Saturday. The meeting will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church in that city. W. A. Taylor, of Santa Ana, is president of the society and has charge of the program arrangements. O. H. Barr, also of this city and a former Hastings lumberman, and Mrs. Ed Philico, 1115 French street, are scheduled to appear on the program. Approximately 200 reservations already have been made for the affair. Notices of the meeting were sent out by Mrs. F. A. Watkins, 415 West First street, who is secretary of the society.

WIFE RAN LAWN MOWER SO HE COULDN'T SLEEP, SAYS MAN'S DIVORCE COMPLAINT

Louis Zaepfel, of Orange, was seeking a divorce today in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court from Bertha Zaepfel. According to the complaint, Zaepfel deeded property in Orange to his wife on her promise to cancel a mortgage against another piece of his property. But she refused to carry out the alleged promise, he stated. On the witness stand today, Zaepfel told the court that he worked at night as a baker and slept in the morning. "My wife had plenty of time to mow the lawn in the afternoon but she always ran the lawn mower around the house in the morning," Zaepfel declared, pointing out also other alleged habits of his wife which, he stated, disturbed his sleep. At another time, he said, he left his pajamas on his bed when he dressed for lunch. He declared that when Mrs. Zaepfel discovered his pajamas she said: "I see you are looking for trouble again." She became so angry, he declared, that she took off her shoe and beat him on the arm. Zaepfel is represented by James L. Davis and Sharpless Walker, Santa Ana attorneys. Mrs. Zaepfel is represented by H. L. Dearing, of Orange.

CONCERT TO BE GIVEN HERE BY NEGRO QUARTET JAPANESE ARE PRINCIPALS IN DIVORCE ACTION

"They make you laugh and they make you cry," declare those who have heard the Conroe College Invincible quartet, that musical organization of young colored men from Conroe college, Texas, to be presented in concert tomorrow night in the First Evangelical church, North Main and Tenth streets.

The four singers, F. D. Johnson and K. L. Spencer, first and second tenors; A. T. Thomas, baritone, and J. H. James, bass, build their programs around the spirituals so characteristic of their race, but mingled with the melancholy beauty of these numbers are the gay and lilting harmonies of their lighter moments.

Tomorrow night's concert will begin at 7:30 and while there will be no paid admission at the door, a silver offering will be taken to help defray the expenses of the singers and, if possible, add to the educational fund of Conroe college.

Divorce cases among Japanese are rare enough in Orange county, according to County Clerk J. M. Backs, but a still more unusual combination occurred today when a Japanese woman brought suit for divorce against her Japanese husband and employed a Japanese attorney to handle the proceedings for her.

Hatsuyo Hiraga filed a complaint for divorce against Shiroh Hiraga on grounds of asserted cruelty. She was represented by K. Iwanaga, Los Angeles attorney. According to the complaint, Hiraga shook and struck his wife on several occasions and accused her of being in love with another man. His alleged acts were caused by "unwarranted jealousy," the complaint stated, and pointed out that his statements to others had caused his wife to lose many friends.

On January 2, while they were visiting her parents in Los Angeles, Hiraga struck her, told her to keep away from him and not to return to their home in Orange county, the complaint declared. It was on that day that the final separation occurred, according to the complaint, which stated that the couple married last May.

Saves dress and film goes on!

HOLLYWOOD, CAL.—Alice White's ingenuity recently saved a temporary suspension of production on her new film—and a loss of thousands of dollars an hour to First National studios. In the midst of a ballroom scene, Miss White spilled punch down the front of her chiffon dancing frock. Consternation reigned—then Alice White herself saved the day. Calling her maid, she instructed her to wash the dress in Lux. In 30 minutes the dress, dried quickly by electric fans, looked like new! "Every girl knows how marvelous her frocks look cleansed in Lux," Miss White said—"and our own wardrobe department uses Lux regularly. Tests prove clothes can be kept gorgeously new looking ever so much longer with Lux. Today's incident merely illustrates dramatically the marvelous work Lux does in double-quick time."

WESTMINSTER P.-T.A. HEARS BANKING TALK

WESTMINSTER, March 8.—The monthly meeting of the Westminster Parent-Teacher association was held Wednesday afternoon, with 25 members present. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Warren Foster, vice president of the association, who takes the place of Mrs. George Prindle, president, who has moved from the community.

Frank Monroe of the First National bank, Garden Grove, who is in charge of the banking accounts of the children of the local school, was present and spoke on the subject of banking. He stated that at this time there is a total of $67 on the accounts of local pupils.

A program was presented by Miss Olive Mitchell's fourth grade pupils. Two songs were sung and the health play, "Care of the Teeth," was given by Luella Baxter, Wilma Iseninger, Marian Smith, Golda Bower, Chico Kuyu, Ellen Edward, Irene Luster, James Flemming, Marvin Kleinknight, Raymond Best, Laddie Whitcomb, Phyllis Snow, Dorothy Hell, Desire Garceau, Richard Ferguson, Gladys Farker.

At the business session it was voted to accept the offer of the Parent-Teacher association of the Fountain Valley school at Talbert to have the members present their play, "The Cabbage Hill School," a comedy farce, which was given last week at the Fountain Valley school. It is thought the date of March 15 will be set as the time for the play.

Mrs. Ora Scheiber, principal, came before the local association asking that it be made possible for picture reels to be used at the Friday assembly at the local school. Mrs. Scheiber also told of plans for the proposed Americanization work in this school district.

One new member was enrolled at the meeting and the flag, which the P.-T. A. presents each month to the class having the greatest number of mothers present at the meeting, went to the fourth grade.

tion among many music-lovers of the county.

On this occasion, which will mark the Santa Ana organization's second winter concert, Harold Proctor, well-known tenor soloist and one of the most popular singers in the Southland, will be featured through the courtesy of the Richfield Oil company.

Proctor is a widely acclaimed favorite and is highly lauded and admired by the public, also by many thousands of radio fans. There is no doubt but that his presence on this occasion will prove a decided attraction.

Proctor plans presentation of a song-group composed of both classic and modern selections: 1. "Lend Me Your Aid" from "Queen of Sheba" (Gounod); 2. (a) "Tis the Day" (Leoncavallo); (b) "A Spirit Flower" (Campbell-Tipton.) He will be accompanied by Will Garaway.

The well known overture from "Mignon," romantic opera by Charles Ambrose Thomas, also will be a feature of next Thursday night's program. This opera first was produced at the Opera Comique, in Paris on Nov. 17, 1866. It is founded on the story "Wilhelm Meister," by Goethe.

The opera's plot centers at the story of a girl captured by Gypsies and later found to be the long-lost daughter of a nobleman.

Wary from traveling the Gypsy band stops at a wayside tavern. Giarro, their leader, orders Mignon, a young girl, to dance to amuse the guests. She refuses and as Giarro rushes forward to beat her, she is protected by Lothario, an Italian harper, shielded in turn by Wilhelm Meister, a young student. Wilhelm takes Mignon as a page and they visit the castle of Baron Freidrich.

Mignon loves Wilhelm. In turn, infatuated with another, Wilhelm rescues her from the clutches of a great peril. Mignon from the castle, when it catches fire, is followed by Wilhelm, who is followed by Mignon's father. In Italy then, she is found to be the daughter of Lothario, in the day of Marquis de Cipriani, who has been first stolen by Gypsy. He bestows her hand upon Wilhelm with his blessing. Other selections, equally interesting, will be given premiere rendition on this program.

Practitioner Tax Statement Issued By R. Berger

At the last meeting of the city council the city attorney was directed to prepare an amendment to the occupational tax ordinance with reference to the classification of Christian Science practitioners. In this connection, Roman C. Berger, committeeman for publication for Santa Ana makes the following statement: "Christian Science practitioners in administering to or giving treatment to others do so only by religious instruction and prayer, and therefore should be classified as religious workers only. Ministers and other religious workers are not taxed for practicing their religion and we submit that Christian Science practitioners should be in the same classification."

"Authorized Christian Science practitioners devote practically all of their time to their religious work, and they have to maintain homes and meet other expenses the same as all do. They receive no salaries in connection with their work as practitioners, but are compensated by those individuals administered to, for as Jesus said, '... the laborer is worthy of his hire.'"

CLAPHAS TOPIC OF REV. HATTER IN LENT TALK

Before a large audience, the Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Church of the Messiah, last night delivered the third of his lectures on "The Men Who Crucified Christ," taking the high priest Claphas as his subject.

He said, in part: "Picture the meeting of the Sanhedrin, that group of 71 powerful members of the Jewish hierarchy. See how the members rise to present their plans for the capture of that man Jesus, who was threatening their power and influence. Hear them ask, 'What shall we do?' Picture the high priest himself, Claphas, the last high priest of the old Jewish church. Listen to his plan."

"With his subtle, keen mind, he lays before them the way they may 'get' this disturber of their peace. One can understand this leader of 22,000 priests, living on the temple benefactions, being inflamed against the Christ. He could see his edifice tottering before this man so popular with the multitude, this man who performed miracles, who drove the money changers and merchants out of the temple with scathing rebukes. Small wonder this high priest was jealous, envious, intolerant and hating. Such things lead to murder."

"But Claphas is well represented in the world of today. Jealousy has armed many a hand, done many a murder. This character has his prototype even in this city. There are those who stop at nothing to gain their ends. They envy the more successful, they hate their neighbor. These things must be stamped out of our own hearts or we but add to the wave of crime that is abroad today and against which our new president, Herbert Hoover, urges the forces of America to unite."

Next week the rector will deal with Pontius Pilate in the fourth of his lectures.

ENVIRONMENT IS BLAMED FOR CHILD PROBLEM

The theory that children inherit criminal tendencies has been exploded and experience has demonstrated that such tendencies are the result of environment and failure of parents to correctly guide the habits of their offspring when they are young, according to W. J. Scudder, superintendent of the state school for boys in Whittier. Scudder discussed "The Child Problem and Our Responsibility" in an address at the meeting, yesterday, of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club.

The speaker recited the habits of the baby and their wormation in various periods of development. He pointed out that a child who is not corrected in some of his tendencies soon comes to resent anything that interferes with his desire.

Mothers and fathers who fail to halt their children in the more or less childish instinct to be selfish, and to want everything their own way, are parents who are permitting situations from which criminal tendencies develop, the speaker said.

Scudder said that there are many "behavior patterns" and he pointed out their classifications and commented on methods adopted for dealing with the various types.

"There is no such thing as a bad boy," Scudder said. "If a boy is what we call a bad boy, he is such because he was permitted by his parents to start wrong."

W. D. Ranney presided as program chairman and he introduced, in addition to the speaker, Miss Geneva Hartung in two readings and Miss Lorine Croddy in two vocal numbers.

"By Joe! it's good to smoke Luckies."

Felix Count Luckner

"Lucky Strikes? By Joe, yes. Let me tell you. I was cruising in my raider in the South Pacific. It had been damp, rainy weather and every bit of tobacco we had on the ship was mouldy and could not be smoked. We began to be desperate. The men were—what you call—grouchy. Along came an American ship. We captured her and after taking the captain, officers and crew aboard my raider and finding comfortable places for them to stay, I and my officers went over to the captured ship to see if there was anything aboard her that we wanted. We searched her. And what do you think? Under the cushions of a seat in the captain's cabin we found 500 packages of Lucky Strikes! I tore off the end of one and lit it and filled my lungs with it, and By Joe, I was a man again. We had enough for all the crew and we were all cheered up and we all became friends once more. By Joe, I was sorry to sink that American ship that had brought us those smokes. Lucky Strikes, they are wonderful, and my Countess, of course, wishes a fashionable, slender figure. She smokes Lucky Strikes when she is offered fattening sweets. And my life has always been an active one and I must be trim and fit. I love to feel what you Americans call 'peppy.' So no sweets for me. Give me a Lucky Strike instead. By Joe, it's good for us to smoke Luckies."

COUNT FELIX VON LUCKNER

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This confirms in no uncertain terms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

RADIATING with the Radio Editor

An important factor in the welfare of mankind is that in the manner in which Frank A. Arnold, Development Director for the National Broadcasting Company, describes radio. And he should know—Elimination of Time and space—the literal gathering together of all peoples of the civilized world within the reach of a single voice, makes radio, in Arnold's opinion (and, we might say, our own), a most romantic and fascinating thing—it will, he says, promote universal understanding and brotherhood—Arnold now is on the Pacific coast for the purpose of addressing various gatherings on "This Business of Broadcasting" and he is scheduled to talk in Los Angeles on March 12—Arnold goes on to say that radio, as an industry, has developed so rapidly that it has been difficult to keep pace with it—in just eight years, he points out, the nation has graduated from a small beginning to a point where at present the entire country is covered by a vast, intricate network, using 100,000 miles of leased wire—The response of the public-at-large to radio has impressed Arnold, for, as he reveals, there already are 11,032,855 receiving sets in operation and interest is impartial—Arnold reminds us of the tremendous advantage of radio to the West—Among other things, he asserts, the networks insure us of the delivery of the material concerning the Pacific coast and help us in our task of showing the world the vast advantages of our Western country—

THOUSANDS SEEK BUT FEW FIND FAME

The chief duty of George Engles, director of the NBC concert bureau in New York, is to give auditions to the thousands wanting to be heard over the air. Here he is shown testing the voice of June Caldwell, while at right are two artists who have successfully run the gauntlet of auditions—Jessica Dragonette, soprano, and Arcadie Birkenholz, violinist of the NBC system.

NBC TESTS 20,000 ASPIRING RADIO ARTISTS YEARLY, BUT FEW ARE ABLE TO MAKE GOOD

NEW YORK, March 7.—The world of talent is flocking to the broadcasting studios in search of fame and fortune. When one organization alone, the National Broadcasting company, reports that it holds nearly 20,000 auditions a year for would-be radio performers, some conception can be gained of the lure of the microphone.

THIRD NATIONAL RADIO AUDITION BEING PLANNED

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 7.—Another national radio audition for young amateur singers of both sexes will be held this year, the Atwater Kent Foundation announced today. The finals will be held in New York in December when five boys and five girls will compete for $25,000 in cash awards and scholarships in a prominent American conservatory. The foundation conducted similar contests in 1927 and 1928 in which thousands of young singers in all parts of the country participated.

All Get Scholarships
All 10 finalists will be given scholarships in addition to the cash prizes. A. Atwater Kent, president of the foundation, informed the United Press. Heretofore, winners of fourth and fifth places were not awarded scholarships.

"It seems to me," Kent said, "that after devoting nearly a year to preliminary contests in which 50,000 or 60,000 voices are tried out, we should make certain that all 10 of the finalists be assured of further vocal instruction and the means with which to pursue it. For that reason, we have added $7500 in cash prizes and two years in tuition to the former awards."

Conditions of the contest are similar to those of former auditions. Only amateur singers between the ages of 18 and 25 are eligible. However, paid choir singers are permitted to enter the contest. To reach the finals, it is necessary to win successive local, state and district auditions.

The boy and girl who win first place in the 1929 finals will each be awarded $500 in cash, together with a two-year scholarship. Scholarships for one year will be given all other finalists, with the following cash prizes: $3000 for second place, $2000 for third, $1500 for fourth and $1000 for fifth.

ASHFORD NEW LYRIC RADIO DEALER HERE

Bill Ashford, proprietor of the Radio Den, at 313 West Fourth street, today announced that he had been named a Santa Ana representative for the Lyric Mohawk radio, new models of which have just been announced. Ashford last week attended a preview of the new Lyric in the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles, and upon his return here voiced his enthusiasm for the new receivers. The set, he said, is completely new and is housed in beautiful, compact furniture built exclusively for Lyric in the company's own furniture factory. The new Lyric, Ashford declared, have "250" tube amplification, which means that, although volume has been added, the sets return true tone without distortion. Specially "matched" to the "set" dynamic speakers are partly responsible for this, he said. The new sets are controlled by a single dial and are pleasingly selective, the Santa Ana dealer said.

RADIO REACHES HEIGHTS DURING COOLIDGE REIGN

The American people have become radio conscious in the real sense during the administration of Calvin Coolidge as president. Radio was in its infancy when he assumed office. Due to the personal interest and official support given to this latest of scientific marvels by Coolidge, radio and its by-product, broadcasting, have reached unexpected degrees of popularity. This is true of it as a business, and of its use for educational, entertainment and religious purposes. "It may properly be said that the advance in broadcasting to the efficiency it has attained has paralleled the advance which Mr. Coolidge, as an executive, has made to the confidence of the American people," says J. E. Smith, president of the National Radio institute in Washington.

IN PUBLIC'S MIND

"Therefore, radio broadcasting is certain to be indelibly associated in the public mind now and in the future with the administration of the man who has just left his high office," adds Smith. He continues:

"When Mr. Coolidge took office, radio was discussed and used but casually. Today, it is familiar to all men and radio sets are to be found in probably 50 per cent of American homes.

"President Harding's inaugural speech was carried well over the capitol grounds by means of magnifiers but no further. Mr. Coolidge was the first president to deliver an inaugural address directly to the listening millions all over the country. Since then he has been a regular and interested user of the 'mike.' He has participated personally in many of the epoch-making occasions on which some new achievement of radio has been signalled.

"That much of the success which President Coolidge achieved in his campaigns for economy in the government budget, and his suggestions of economy as an individual practice, has been due to the microphone, hardly be denied. Great Achievements "About the time he became president progress was beginning to be

STATION GUIDES NAVIGATORS

By broadcasting its latitude and longitude at regular intervals, station WRC, San Francisco, is enabling ships off the Pacific coast, in the aid of a radio compass, to determine their positions and plot their courses. The station's latitude and longitude were determined by Harrison Hollaway, left, manager of KFRG, and Richard Holbrook, former chief officer of the Arctic trading ship, "Chas. Brewer." They are shown here in the act of "shooting the sun" to fix KFRG's position.

'COMMON CARRIER' FOR CHAIN PROGRAMS MAY BE SOLUTION FOR INTERFERENCE PROBLEM

By ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

When two different voices sing together, a single tone differing from either original voice reaches the ear.

It is this effect in sound that is being suggested for application to radio as a means to solve the problem existing among the 600-odd radio stations in the United States.

Instead of human voices, there being put up in Virginia. If these can be two transmitters of differing pitch or frequency combined to generate a third pitch or frequency that would be more generally applicable to network broadcasting than the individual frequencies now employed.

The method has been suggested to the federal radio commission. In fact, proponents of the plan have formed the Continental Broadcasting company of New York and have applied for the two wavelengths necessary to form the third they want to use for national network broadcasting. Experimental transmitters are

SAFETY FACTOR IS STRESSED BY DR. DELLINGER

NEW YORK, March 7.—The future development of commercial travel is virtually dependent on the use of radio, in the opinion of Dr. J. H. Dellinger, chief of radio section of the U. S. bureau of standards.

Dr. Dellinger said the percentage of aviation accidents resulting from hazards of weather versus the slowness with which radio aids to air navigation has been advancing.

RADIO SEEMS ANSWER TO THOSE HAZARDS

"Radio seems the answer to those hazards," Dr. Dellinger concluded, "and there is great hope that not only this percentage of accidents but the whole number of accidents will become vanishingly small when the possibilities of radio are really in practice."

Dr. Dellinger pointed out that genuine service will not be available until the air traveler may rely on schedules as regular as trains maintain independent of weather or other contingencies. All over limitations are in a fair way to be overcome, he said, yet all that comes to a standstill when low visibility prevents the pilot from seeing landmarks or lights on the ground. A pilot may continue to fly a fog. Dr. Dellinger said, by use of such instruments as the altimeter, turn indicator and compass, but it is only by means of radio that he can be certain of keeping to a given course and find the landing field when the ground is invisible.

The Radio Beacon System

The radio beacon system which is being established on the airways of the United States is destroying the fog menace, Dr. Dellinger declared, and when this system is fully established, he pointed out, there is every reason to believe that the last great obstacle to safe flying will have been conquered. Scheduled flights will be dependable, the passenger flying can be considered established as a serious service.

Dr. Dellinger described some of

LIMIT ON CHAIN AGAIN PUT OFF THREE MONTHS

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Scheduled to go into effect finally on March 1, the chain broadcasting restriction has been postponed again, this time until June 1. The order provides that no two or more stations on cleared channels may broadcast the same chain program at the same time if the stations are less than 300 miles apart.

The vote was taken when four commissioners were present. Three voted in favor of the postponement and one against.

Originally the order limiting chain broadcasts was to take effect at the same time as the reallocation, on Nov. 11, 1928. However, so many protests were received, not only from chain members and the trade, but from listeners as well, and so much technique had to be sifted before the complaints could be adjudicated, that the order's effective date was postponed until February 1, or more than two and a half months.

Next came the one-month postponement until March 1, and now the three-month postponement until June 1, making a total of six and one-half months postponement.

The commission has been so deeply engrossed in other matters of importance, including short waves, television, reallocation amendments and international discussions on waves, that not enough time was left for the survey of chain broadcasts that was intended. The same lack of time, plus newly gained insight into the tremendous intricacies of maintaining a chain, as developed before the congressional committee by Merrill Hall Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting company, caused the latest postponement.

The objections to the chain restriction come from various sources including not only listeners, of whom there are many thousands who protest against any curtailment of what they term their "best programs," but also from the trade as well, including set and parts manufacturers, who say that nothing ever helped their business so much as chain broadcasts.

ZENITH

AUTOMATIC

The Zenith Radio, peer among receiving sets, is the only one made that has among a score of other outstanding features, an AUTOMATIC STATION-FINDER! To put home that thought in our advertising we have been using this slogan: "Press the button, and there's your station!" We think a better slogan can be had. One that is pithy, concise, descriptive. We think probably YOU can write it. If you do, we'll give you an 8-tube 39-A Zenith Radio, which sells for $610, providing only that some contestant does not submit a better one than yours.

Here Are the Simple Rules:

Only slogans in envelopes bearing a postmark not later than midnight of March 11, 1929, will be considered. The contest is open to anyone living in California who is not directly or indirectly connected with the manufacture or distribution of Zenith Radios.

Each slogan must be limited to ten words—the shorter the sweeter. In the event of a tie, each winning contestant will receive the same prize. A member of the Zenith distributing organization in California and at least two representative business men will be the judges, and there shall be no appeal from their decision.

... AND THE BEST SLOGAN SUBMITTED IN THE SANTA ANA DISTRICT WILL RECEIVE $50.00 CREDIT ON ANY ZENITH MODEL.

Put on your thinking cap and get going right now! What you think is an ordinary slogan the judges may decide is a "Wow!" Mail me your entries immediately. TUNE IN ON KHJ SATURDAY AND SUNDAY NIGHTS—9:30 to 10 P. M., FOR MORE DETAILS.

FROM RADIO TO TALKIE FAME

The movies raided the legitimate stage and now the "talkies" are out raiding the radio lanes. Among the first casualties is the signing of Myrtle McLaughlin, petite Irish soprano of San Francisco's KPO, to be seen and heard in two big new talkie-music movies.

CONVICT'S 'STATIC CUTTER' MAY BE LONG-SOUGHT BOON

LINCOLN, Neb., March 7.—World-famous radio engineers have tried since the birth of broadcasting to invent a device to eliminate static, the cause of gray hairs in many a fan's head.

But if the patent of Louis Clernt works as he says it does, the credit for the invention of a static eliminator will go to a convict serving 15 years in the state penitentiary here.

Clernt, 52, is an expert mechanic. While serving seven years of his sentence he perfected his invention. With him worked Warden W. T. Fenton and W. V. Mathews, former Omaha banker, who recently was released from the prison after serving six years for bank embezzlement.

Although a patent has been applied for, very little is known of Clernt's machine. The principle of the device, however, is that it catches static and discharges it before it reaches the loud speaker. It can be made to sell for $1. Clernt already has received offers of attractive sums for the rights to his device, but he has turned them down.

He is eligible for parole in June and if he goes into business manufacturing his invention, he says he will take with him his prison mate, Mathews, and Warden Fenton.

Clernt has a wife and five children in Cleveland.

SEIBERLINGS BACK FROM CONCERT TRIP

Their hurried concert tour of the east over, the Seiberling Singers quartet, who took a month off from broadcasting in response to thousands of requests from radio fans to step out from behind the microphone, will return to the air tonight. And, to judge from their reopening program, February must have been a gay month on the Pullmans for they have found time during their travels to rehearse a new series of vocal rarities which they have brought back to the 30,000,000 listeners-in who can dial the Seiberling hour.

From their bags and baggage they will bring forth the performance tonight a new vocal arrangement of that orchestral selection familiar to all music lovers, Rubinstein's "Kamennoi Ostrow."

The Seiberling hour goes on the air every Thursday night from 6 to 8:30 p. m., Pacific coast time through 38 stations of the National Broadcasting company's coast-to-coast network.

GIANT STATION
The world's largest radio broadcasting station has been ordered constructed in Czechoslovakia by the government. The station, which will probably be located in the capital, Prague, will have a power of 120 kilowatts.

Television, to be successful, will need three separate and simultaneous channels, according to D. E. Replogle, of the Raytheon Manufacturing company. One channel will be needed for urban service, one for rural service and a third for DX.

KFI'S PROGRAM OF FARM TALKS IS ANNOUNCED

Beginning each day at 12 noon and continuing 10 minutes, talks of interest to farmers, growers and producers will be given during the week beginning March 11, under the auspices of the agricultural extension service, cooperating with radio station KFI. The following daily talks are announced by the farm advisor:

March 11, "Hay Inspection Office Open," by R. E. Blair, assistant chief, bureau field crops, state department of agriculture, Sacramento.

March 12, "Crushed Peaches and the Peach Grower," by W. V. Cruess, division of fruit products, experiment station, Davis.

March 13, "Precautions to be Exercised in the Movement of Nursery Stock from One Locality to Another," by A. H. Call, horticultural commissioner, Ventura county.

March 14, "What the Work of the Conservation Association Means to Southern California," by Judge H. I. Cruzan, vice president Los Angeles Conservation association.

March 15, "Problems in Desert Land Development," by Dr. George F. Clements, manager agricultural department, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

March 16, "Lemon Pruning," by V. F. Blanchard, farm advisor, Ventura county.

FOR STUDENTS' USE

Through the Princeton University Radio club's station W3DH, students of that school can communicate with any part of the world free of charge. The station, operating with 50 watts on 49 and 80 meters, sends a student's message to the town of its destination. An operator there picks it up and phones it in.

SYNCHRONIZED WAVE PERMIT IS GRANTED

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The federal radio commission has granted construction permits to the Continental Broadcasting corporation of New York for four experimental radio stations in Virginia, to be employed in synchronization experiments designed to prove the feasibility of operating a large number of stations on the same wavelengths simultaneously. Two of these stations will be located in Richmond and Alexandria for actual broadcasting purposes, with the other two stations operating on short waves, to be located at Fredericksburg, Va. The frequencies assigned to the corporation are 3257, 3256 and 4795 kilocycles, in the short wave band, to be used for producing a heterodyne frequency of 1539 kilocycles, on which the two broadcasting stations are to transmit during the experiments.

If the experiments are successful the corporation intends to synchronize a large number of small stations now operating in the broadcast band on a single channel created by the beating of the two high frequencies, and to broadcast identical programs throughout the country.

BOARD REVEALS ITS SYSTEM OF STATION RATING

WASHINGTON, March 7.—That the federal radio commission has a definite method of rating stations, and what that method is, was revealed in a brief filed by the commission's counsel, Louis G. Caldwell, in the joint cases of WENR, WLS and WBCD, all in Illinois, who appealed to the courts for more time on the air.

The rules, in substance, are:
1. The station with the longer service record has the superior right, all other considerations being equal.

2. Where the claims are of unequal weight, priority effect diminishes in direct ratio to the inequality of the inferior claim.

3. Broadcasting stations have an obligation equal to that of a public utility and are charged with subscribing to the highest standards of service to the listening public. The right of the program sender always is far subordinate to that of the listeners.

4. The object of a program is to meet the general desires of the public, and a well-rounded program will address itself to the divergent tastes of the public, and not single out some thought of type that is of limited interest.

5. Stations operated to promulgate some school of thought or which emphasize their own purposes rather than instituting programs that justify the existence of the station as something interesting to all, are engaged in propaganda, and not operated in the public interest.

The radio law provides that licenses shall be granted, and the affairs of the stations be administered, in the light of public interest, convenience and necessity. Therefore the rules laid down by the commission are its means of gauging whether the station comes within the fair meaning of the law, and also to distinguish between and among contending claimants, on some recognized basis of measurement.

RCA REPORTS NET INCOME OF $23,661,990

A total gross income of $101,851,603 and net income of $23,661,990 for the Radio Corporation of America during the year ended Dec. 31, 1928, was reported to the stockholders this week by Owen D. Young, chairman of the board, and Gen. James G. Harbord, president of the corporation.

After reserves for amortization of patents, federal income tax, foreign investments and the employees pension fund, the net sum of $19,834,799, remains to be transferred to surplus.

The comparative figures for 1926 and 1927 and 1928 are summarized in the report as follows:

Gross income, 1928, $101,851,603.18; net income, $23,661,989.72; to surplus, $19,834,798.85.

Gross income, 1927, $65,418,620.62; net income, $11,799,650.28; to surplus, $8,478,319.87.

Gross income, 1926, $61,157,286.64; net income, $7,396,487.18; to surplus, $4,661,397.35.

Total current assets at the end of 1928 were $55,577,250 and total current liabilities were $16,073,015, a ratio of nearly three and one-half to one. In 1927, total current assets were $33,379,916 and total current liabilities were $10,910,619. The corporation has no bonded debt or notes outstanding.

Patents and patent rights, carried in the 1927 assets at $5,515,543 have been written down in the 1928 report to $1.

General Harbord, in submitting the 1928 report to stockholders for the board of directors, analyzes the company's activities as follows:

"This period has been significant in the history of your corporation. It has sold more apparatus and handled more radio-grams than in any previous year. The earnings of its communications business for the first time have been sufficient to meet the dividends on its preferred stock. Its facilities have been increased to meet the demands of its business. It has taken the last preliminary steps for entering the domestic telegraph field. It has definitely become a factor in the amusement world. For this enlargement of its usefulness in different directions it has created such subsidiary companies and contracted such alliances as were necessary."

Radio broadcasting created for itself a new and important role in the presidential campaign, General Harbord stated. "It carried to the American people the proceedings of the national conventions of the two great political parties, the campaign speeches of candidates of all political parties and other forms of publicity and closed an exciting four months with the election returns. So clearly and completely were the issues of the campaign laid before the electorate, that the possibility is visualized of future presidential campaigns being shortened to perhaps a month, thus minimizing the demoralization and interruption to business hitherto characteristic of the quadrennial campaigns."

WOR BIRTHDAY CAKE HAS SEVEN CANDLES

NEWARK, N. J., March 7.—On Washington's birthday, WOR, the station of L. Bamberger and company, Newark, N. J., celebrated its seventh birthday. According to WOR statistics, the station has been on the air about 18,800 hours since its beginning. It started with a power of 250 watts, using a continuous wave transmitter converted to speech modulation.

This transmitter was soon supplanted by a 500-watt transmitter specially designed for broadcasting. Later this station gave way to a 5,000-watt transmitter of latest design and this station is used at present.

WOR has made it a specialty to bring celebrities to the microphone and it has introduced many screen stars, actors, authors, and heroes of the hour to the radio audience. The station is one of the most popular, as well as the strongest, in the New York metropolitan area.

MARSHALL NOW IS LOCATED AT 411 W. FOURTH

The Marshall Radio company moved Monday of this week to new and permanent sales and service headquarters at 411 West Fourth street, in the location occupied several months ago by the B. R. C. chain store, near the People's Arcade market. Former locations of this radio of the performances of other children over the air bring their own young hopefuls to the studios. The age of these children ranges from 3 to 14.

"Child radio performers have to be of high caliber. Also they must be able to hold their own in juvenile temperament or stage-fright at a crucial moment. For the most part, however, children are less self-conscious before the microphone than adults.

Speakers And Lecturers

"One other group that comes for auditions includes speakers and lecturers. They represent nearly every profession and occupation. Writers come moved by a desire to air the contents of their newly published works.

"Then, too, there are many women who have finished the job of raising their families and have a great deal of spare time on their hands. They see no reason why they should not spend part of their time talking on the radio, reciting poems or giving helpful hints about housekeeping. Most of them have to be rejected.

"However, the opportunities for really able speakers are good. Radio utilizes speakers on many subjects—health, cooking, fashion, books, recreation, sports, medicine, law. But since the finest representatives of these subjects are usually available, the opportunities for those of lesser capabilities are small.

"The cream of the musical talent is represented by the artists placed under contract. The National Broadcasting and Concert bureau, organized about a year ago, has over 200 of these first rank radio artists under its exclusive management, both for radio and concert appearances.

"In the light of the thousands of musicians who come through our doors this little group looks exceedingly small. It tells better than anything else the tale of what happens to those who come to the broadcasting studios looking for an easy road to wealth or a career."

INSTALL MAJESTIC ON S. S. FRANCONIA

On board the palatial S. S. Franconia, which recently left New York for an around the world cruise, the passengers will enjoy radio programs received through a Majestic electric radio set of the latest model.

The selection of Majestic for this world tour is a high honor and fulfills the prediction made that radio would soon become a regular feature of entertainment on ship-board.

It is recalled that a Majestic receiving set crossed the Atlantic in the giant dirigible "Graf Zeppelin" on her return to Germany.

Thus radio brings to the traveling public their favorite broadcast programs of music, lectures, sermons, sports, market reports, and so on.

SOLUTION FOR INTERFERENCE PROBLEM SEEN

a source of disturbance in the reception of broadcast programs.

Two stations may have been allotted the same wavelength or frequency. But if one of these happens to be slightly off its frequency, say a half kilocycle or so, a receiver situated in a position to hear both stations would pick up what is termed a heterodyne whistle of pitch equal to the difference between the two transmitted frequencies.

Engineers call this a "beat frequency," the result of two different frequencies beating against each other in the receiver. Instead of causing this accidentally, it will be produced intentionally so that local broadcasters may tune in on it and use it as the "carrier" for their broadcasting.

Two transmitters would be erected from one will go a frequency of 7000 kilocycles, which is outside the broadcasting range. From the other will go one of 7900 kilocycles, also out of the broadcasting range.

High Power Intended

The "beat frequency" of these will be 900 kilocycles, which is equal to 333.1 meters, well within the broadcasting channel. This frequency, spreading over the country and beyond under a power of 50,000 watts, will be caught by those broadcasters having the special radio receiver designed for this purpose.

In broadcasting there is a "carrier wave" upon which is impressed the sound waves resulting from the broadcast programs in the studio. These sound waves "modulate," or change the form of the carrier to form a single broadcast wave. Upon its reception in the home the sound wave can again be detached from its carrier, amplified and reproduced in the form which enables us to hear what is being produced in the broadcasting studio.

At present each station produces its own carrier wave allotted it by the federal radio commission. If the station is taking a chain program from New York or elsewhere as many are doing today, we would receive the same entertainment at various points of our dial conforming with the different carriers over which the program is reproduced.

A common carrier or frequency however, would confine a chain program to one point of the dial and leave more room for local broadcasts. The common carrier could be utilized whenever a station happened to be linked to a chain. Otherwise, each individual station could still broadcast locally on its allotted frequency.

More Frequencies Available. But by confining network programs to one wavelength, through the operation of many local stations on the same "beat frequency," the radio commission would have room to allot other stations to the wavelengths not employed for the time being. A station now enjoying a frequency alone could therefore share it with another giving it up while it is broadcasting network programs.

With the transmission of a common "beat frequency" the stations receiving and broadcasting on it might have to limit their power to not more than 1000, or possibly 500, watts, so that fans will get no heterodyning if one of these stations happened to reproduce the common carrier a little off its frequency. With the use of piezo-electric crystal control there is very little chance of such occurrence, but the limitation of power during chain broadcasting would assure freedom from heterodyne interference even further.

The only high power transmission during chain broadcasting of this sort would be at the two central transmitters, where 50,000 might be impressed upon the aerials. Being centrally located, this would enable broadcasters at all parts of the country to pick up the "beat frequency" with ease and reproduce it over their own aerials.

If the experiments prove this principle true, we may have hopes of enjoying our programs without the distracting interferences we have with us today. It needs intensive study and thorough testing, but if found practicable it should be resorted to at the earliest possible moment.

Radio To Provide Safety Factor In Planes Progress

the means by which radio could be employed as an aid to air navigation for the flyer not traveling the regular airways. The first of these systems utilizes direction-finding stations on the ground which determine the direction of radio waves transmitted by the airplane, combine their calculations and by triangulation determine the plane's position, which is then communicated to the pilot. A second method is the use of a radio direction-finder on the airplane. The pilot steers a course in the indicated direction of the radio station on the ground, and can be certain of reaching that point.

Rotating Beacon

The third method described by Dr. Dellinger employs the rotating radio beacon for the guidance of the independent flyer. A radio transmitting station, located preferably at an airport, sends forth a beam of radio waves which sweep constantly around. A special sig-marked in the development of vacuum tubes and short wavelengths first were being used to advantage. Witness their achievements as he leaves office. During his administration broadcasting concerts first were heard by members of the McMillan expedition in the polar regions. Britain heard programs broadcast by us and we first heard Britain.

"Mr. Coolidge had been president more than three years before transatlantic radiophone service was opened to the public. The federal radio commission, even now trying to find itself due to its newness, was not authorized under an act approved by him until Feb. 23, 1927. In fact, chain broadcasting was not successfully realized until he had been in office about five years, a remarkable hookup of 106 stations in the United States having been arranged on one occasion in 1923. This hookup called for approximately 25,000 miles of telephone and 48,000 miles of telegraph circuits in securing program co-ordination and auxiliary communication.

"Mr. Hoover, while secretary of commerce, under Mr. Coolidge, proved his friendship for radio. His accomplishments in connection with the proper use and control of it in the interest of the public means that the radio era which became such a reality under President Coolidge will continue under Mr. Hoover when he assumes office."

RECORD DISGUISED HELD PUBLIC FRAUD

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Opposed in principle to the playing of phonograph records by radio stations, whether suitable talent is otherwise available, the federal radio commission has stated its position in the following declaration:

"The commission, while not condemning the practice of using mechanical reproductions, such as phonograph records or perforated rolls, required that all broadcasting of this nature be clearly described in the announcement of each number. The commission has felt, and still feels, that to permit such broadcasting without appropriate announcement, is, in effect, a fraud upon the public.

Saturday Is Date Of Big Casaba Tilt

Saturday rather than Friday night, will be the date of the "championships" basketball game between Class B fives of Santa Ana and Fullerton high schools. Local officials announced definitely today. The contest will be played in the Tustin gymnasium and will start at 6 p.m.

Class A teams of Fullerton and Long Beach will mingle Friday evening and Fullerton authorities were unwilling to play two titular games on the same evening.

Santa Ana's cagers were scheduled to wind up the hard part of their training today. Friday's workout will be only a mild one, coach Bill Cook indicated.

Harbor May Enter Race
The Orange County Harbor district is expected to send a spokesman to the assembly and apply for a franchise if there is one open. Night baseball has proved popular in the Newport Beach-Lido-Costa Mesa section and the class of ball being played there is said to be on a par with that in Orange County league company.

Thirty rounds of leather pushing are again scheduled for the Orange County Athletic club tomorrow night but this week the bouts have been divided so that there will be three six-rounders and three four-rounders instead of five six-rounders.

The man eventers are Jesse Hobson and Aurelio Huerra. Hobson is described as an aggressive, two-fisted fellow with a long list of humbled victims. Huerra needs no ballyhoo. He licked the tough Fred Tegnovitz here last Friday in a spot that had the crowd woozy with excitement. There were many who thought Tegnovitz should have had a draw but they were convinced Huerra had something.

Jackie Stewart, the Akron knock-out artist, who is living here now, was to have met Harry Johnson, colored, in the semi-final but Stewart called off the bout so far as he was concerned today and no substitute was announced by O. C. knocked out in the fourth round at 1 nthe fourth round at Wilmington last night by Oscar Rankin in a sensational bout. His was cut badly and he will not

Pacific coast league agragates are busy eyeing the boys at spring training camps just now. And while the usual hordes of promising rookies are on hand, there are new faces from other places, due to winter trades. Meet some of the new talent: Upper row (left to right), Joe Harris, ex-Pirate first sacker, to Sacramento; Joe Bush, ex-Athletic and Yankee pitcher, to Portland; Earl Webb, ex-Cub outfielder, to Los Angeles. Lower row, Wilbur Hubbell, ex-Minneapolis pitcher, to Missions; Sam Langford, ex-Cleveland outfielder, to San Francisco; August Johns, ex-Detroit and Ft. Worth pitcher, to Hollywood; Ernie Johnson, ex-White Sox and Beaver second baseman, to Seattle as player-manager; Roy Carlyle, ex-Birmingham outfielder, to Oakland.

Thursday—Friday—Saturday—Sunday—Monday! Five games in a row! The Portland Beavers, facing this situation here today, began to feel like they were in the midst of their regular Pacific Coast league season instead of mid-stream in a training camp. The current exhibition series will put Manager Bill Rodgers' 10 pitchers to the supreme test for every trajectory dispenser will see service during the coming five afternoons and all will be expected to put a little "hard" and a little "crook" on their offerings. The Beavers were to meet the National Baseball School today, Occidental college tomorrow, Hollywood Saturday and Oakland on both Sunday and Monday.

Seven penny gum slot machines were confiscated by Earl Lentz, city license inspector, yesterday and are being held in the city hall.

Failure of the owners to pay a city license of $40 per year brought about the confiscation, Lentz said.

Two years ago the machines were brought to Santa Ana and a short time later were confiscated because the city license fee was not paid, Lentz said. The machines at that time were returned to the owners with an understanding that the machines were not to be returned to Santa Ana, Lentz said.

Lentz claimed that this agreement was violated.

NEW YORK, March 7. — Jack Dempsey was expected here today to confer with officials of Madison Square Garden relative to becoming associated with that organization as promoter.

Tex Rickard's successor will not be selected until the next meeting of board of directors of the Garden, but these seems to be little doubt but that Bill Carey will get the job if he wants it.

The executive committee met yesterday and approved the agreements signed by Carey to hold five big fights in Miami, Fla., over the span of the next five years. The fights will be held in February each year if conditions warrant.

Profit from the Miami Beach bout, Carey said, "has not been ascertained because all the bills have not been tabulated."

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—William Wrigley Jr., owner of the Chicago Cubs and the Los Angeles club announced today that he had invited the New York Yankees to train at Wrigley field here next season and that he believed that Col. Jake Rupert, owner of the world's champions, will accept the offer.

The chewing gum magnate advised that the Yankees and Cubs would play a series of games if Rupert accepts.

SAN CLEMENTE, March 7.—Ernie Johnson is the sparkplug of the Seattle Indians. With him the club is full of hustle. Without him it seems to lose fire.

For the last two days the club has gone through its practice sessions without the tiny manager, for he's been laid low by an attack of influenza. Walter McCredie has taken charge, but the club doesn't perform for McCredie like it does for Johnson.

The same is apt to hold true when the season starts. With Johnson on the bench, some of that useful snap that is so precious to a club may be missing.

The mite manager has proven that he can keep his hustle up in trying situations. He proved it conclusively to Seattle fans late last season when he worked just as hard as a private in the Portland ranks under "Raw Meat" Bill Rodgers as he did as manager of the club himself.

Johnson plans to take it easy for the rest of the week, although he'll probably direct operations from Zenaydo Chavez and Jimmie Rivers, local welterweights who fought a sizzling main event here six weeks ago, probably will be re-matched for an eight or ten-round main event at the Orange County Athletic club within the next three weeks.

Santa Ana's southside professional boxing promoters are so determined to arrange this big "shot" that Henry T. Foust, president of the club, has entered into the negotiations personally, it was learned today.

His hand in good condition again after the break he suffered in the second round of his first match with Chavez, Rivers has resumed training under the direction of his manager, Jack Walker. The Fullerton boy has confined his activities so far to roadwork and will do nothing in the ring for another week or so, Walker indicated. Rivers put on at least 10

BARBUTI GOES BEFORE A. A. U. FOR SHOWDOWN

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, March 7.—Showdown was expected today in the wrangle between Ray Barbuti, Olympic 400-metre champion, and the A. A. U.

Barbuti, who was suspended last Thursday for alleged uncomplimentary remarks about the A. A. U. and its policies, will appear before the registration committee late today, seeking complete reinstatement and exoneration.

Basing his case on the fact that nowhere in the A. A. U. handbook is a rule wherein an athlete may be suspended for verbal comment on any subject, Barbuti will strive to have his name cleared of all charges for which he was set down. Business appears to be business with the Olympic hero, and he will be accompanied to the meeting by Benjamin F. Crowley, his attorney.

Claims Business Injury
Barbuti maintains that the A. A. U.'s action has injured his insurance business and he wants them to set him right. He, however, is seeking no financial reimbursement and told the United Press that he would turn down any money if offered to him.

Among the remarks attributed to Barbuti, he has denied making two of the most serious, which had him saying:

"I'm through with the gang of fourflushers forever."
"I and other athletes have been lining the pockets of the A. A. U. and its affiliated clubs for years."

However, the lone American track winner at Amsterdam admits he said that certain athletes received more than their expenses and that this is known "to a certain A. A. U. official."

While Barbuti says he does not care to get any athletes in trouble, the jurisdiction of the A. A. U. has Jole Ray, who is no longer under volunteered to appear before the A. A. U. with "names, places, dates and amounts."

Ray Ready to Talk
It is understood that Barbuti's lawyer will put this statement to the A. A. U. today.

"If you are sincere in your report to want to investigate such conditions, Mr. Jole Ray will be in New York City Monday ready to give full particulars."

Barbuti does not wish it to appear that the A. A. U. has forced him out of competition. Despite the fact that he had announced his permanent retirement, there is a possibility that Barbuti may return to the track this summer. And again Barbuti wants the public to remember him as National intercollegiate and Olympic champion and not as the guy who talked himself out of amateur athletics.

Paavo Nurmi's case also may come before the committee today. The Finn, who is under suspension for failure to compete in the national championships, is anxious to start running again.

SENT HIMSELF TO MINORS
Roy Spencer was released by Pittsburgh to Indianapolis this winter because he couldn't agree with the Pirates on salary terms. He is a catcher.

ON THE TRAIL OF BIG LEAGUERS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Tom Zachry, veteran southpaw pitcher, has signed his contract, leaving the New York Yankees without a single holdout—a situation which Miller Huggins claims to be a record for a world championship ball club. Huggins is beginning to devote nearly all of his time to his pitchers, featuring efforts to give a change of pace to Fred Heimach and Floyd Van Pelt.

BRADENTON, Fla.—Outfielder Ira Flagstead was the only player over due in the Boston Red Sox camp. Hal Rhyne, infielder drafted by the Philadelphia Athletics last fall from San Francisco and obtained by the Red Sox on waivers, arrived yesterday.

WINTERHAVEN, Fla.—The main body of infielders and outfielders was scheduled to join the Philadelphia Phillies today. Third baseman "Pinky" Whitney and Terry Lyons, rookie shortstop, arrived yesterday. President John Heydler of the National league visited the camp yesterday and characterized the Phillies as "a most attractive team."

CLEARWATER, Fla.—With Outfielder Nick Cullip in camp, the only missing Brooklyn Robins are "Dazzy" Vance and Doug McWeeny, holdouts, and Jake Flowers, who is ill at his home at Cambridge, Md.

AVALON, Catalina Island.—The Chicago Cubs are rapidly getting into tip-top shape. Yesterday's workout was the hardest thus far of the training season and the Cubs appeared in good condition as they went through their paces.

PHOENIX, Ariz.—With four home runs in two days to his credit, Dale Alexander, hard-hitting first baseman purchased from Toronto along with Pitcher Johnny Prudden, is battling with Harry Heimann for the first base job on the Detroit Tigers.

PASO ROBLES, Calif.—Hoping for the return of summer weather in place of yesterday's coolness, the Pittsburgh Pirates prepared for their first practice game today.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—With George Harper, veteran outfielder obtained from the St. Louis Cardinals, expected to reach here Saturday and Dr. Eddie Farrell expected to sign his contract, the Boston Braves' only serious holdout is "Jumping Joe" Dugan, veteran third baseman, bought from the Yankees.

TAMPA, Fla.—The Washington Senators' infield is far from settled. It was indicated by the numerous combinations Manager Walter Johnson is trying out here. Jack Hayes and "Stuffy" Stewart were used around second base yesterday, Ossie Bluege and Joe Crokin at shortstop and "Buddy" Myer and Elmer Yeter at third base. Charlie Gooch, a third baseman, was used at first base in lieu of Joe Judge, who is at Hot Springs.

AVON PARK, Fla.—Manager Billy Southworth said he expected to use only rookie pitchers against the Philadelphia Athletics in the first exhibition game of the major league season here today.

AUSTIN, Tex.—The first exhibition game of the season resulted in a 23 to 3 victory for the New York Giants over the University of Texas nine here yesterday. Lindstrom, Jackson and Welsh of the Giants hit homers.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—Two Tulsa recruits appear to have the inside track for the third base job on the St. Louis Browns. Don Dondero, whose batting brought praise from Manager Dan Howley, is now demonstrating he is also a flashy fielder. Ed Grimes also has been showing up well at the hot corner.

within a few days, but such cases among the non-collegians are few and far between.
The record books are filled with many instances of collegians who stepped in without much preliminary work and established themselves as major leaguers.

Frankie Frisch stepped in as a regular right from Fordham. Sisker came along from Michigan. Plank and Bender and Collins and Joe Sewell from Alabama. And

CALLAND SUCCESSOR NOT YET APPOINTED

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—Applications for the position on the University of Southern California coaching staff held by Leo Calland, who has just signed a contract to go to the University of Idaho as head football coach starting with the 1929 season, are now being received but no immediate action on the appointment of Calland's successor is anticipated, according to Willis O. Hunter, director of intercollegiate athletics.

As director of athletics, Hunter will consider applications and will recommend his choice to the university's faculty athletic committee which will make the appointment with the approval of President R. B. von Klein Smid.

A problem faces university officials in replacing Calland as he served S. C. as freshman football coach, varsity basketball coach and director of intra-mural athletics, and the availability of applicants for these types of work has to be taken into consideration.

RUTH PREDICTS YANKEES. CUBS WILL WIN FLAG

7.—Babe Ruth predicted today to the United Press that the New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs would win the 1929 major league pennant races.

The home run king relegated the St. Louis Cardinals, 1928 National league champions, to fourth place in his pick and also dropped the Philadelphia Athletics, runners-up to the Yankees in the American league race, to fourth place.

Ruth's predictions follow:
American league—1—New York; 2—St. Louis; 3—Detroit; 4—Philadelphia; 5—Washington; 6—Chicago; 7—Cleveland; 8—Boston.
National league—1—Chicago; 2—Pittsburgh; 3—New York; 4—St. Louis; 5—Cincinnati; 6—Brooklyn; 7—Boston; 8—Philadelphia.

many others hit the high spots without much delay.

NO STAR OVERNIGHT
On the other hand, Tris Speaker when given his first trial with the Red Sox, was shunted back to the minors.
Ty Cobb wasn't very impressive when he joined the Tigers. In fact, after having him a few weeks, they tried to trade him to another club, but no one would take him.

Rogers Hornsby never caused any great rumpus by his play the first few weeks with the Cardinals. It took much work to bring him around and to lift that lowly batting average of .246.

It took Rube Marquard almost three years before he finally arrived. And the list could be extended to great length.

WHALE HUNTING IS ORGANIZED ON BIG SCALE

BUENOS AIRES, March 7.—(UP)—Whaling in the Antarctic, long one of the most isolated and romantic pursuits, is being organized on the lines of big business. Although Argentine whalers reported fewer catches around South Georgia last season, half a dozen syndicates and large companies are increasing their activities in the field with whole fleets of chasers.

One new floating refinery—the Teletoria, formerly a White Star liner—is in service. A Norwegian company recently bought the Teletoria, 20,000 tons, also from the White Star Line; and the Viking Whaling company, with British-Norwegian capital, has ordered a new 15,000-ton factory-vessel built on Tyneside for 250,000 pounds. It is reported here that another British company, capitalized at 500,000 pounds, will soon enter the industry. While whale oil prices have been low this year, Argentine whalers reported a better quality product. A hardened variety of oil is produced on the Continent, where it is used in making margarine. Total world production of whale oil last season is given at 120,000 tons, compared to 136,000 tons the previous year.

SAN CLEMENTE, March 7.—Leaving the road and turning over, a car driven by Mrs. W. B. Taylor, 218 South Las Robles street, Pasadena, sent its occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, to the San Clemente Clinic and hospital yesterday. The accident happened about two miles north of the Spanish village and the Taylors were rushed to San Clemente in Roy Divil's ambulance. Mrs. Taylor received a severe cut on the leg, minor bruises and cuts. Mr. Taylor was bruised. Divil took the couple to Pasadena after the accident.

SANDINO'S ACE BAGGED

Bagging bandits in tropical climes has become almost a habit with Lieut. Herman Hanneken, lower left, of the United States Marines. His newest feat is the single-handed capture of the rebel chief Sandino's leading general, Manuel Jiron, above, whose band is responsible for many outrages on the east coast of Nicaragua. Lieutenant Hanneken already had gained distinction by trapping the wily bandit Charlemagne in Haiti in 1919, going alone through several lines of sentries.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Mar. 7.—An anniversary dinner given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Osbey Griffith, of Lomita, was served Sunday in the home of Mrs. Addie L. Blakey, the date marking just one year since the marriage of the honor guests in the Blakey home. Those who were of the dinner party were Mr. and Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Mattie Neathery, of Point Firmin, mother of Mrs. Griffith; Miss Katharine Caldwell, of Artesia, who was one in attendance at the marriage a year ago and who was at that time teaching in the same high school with Mrs. Griffith; C. Jones of Point Firmin, Mrs. Blakey and Miss Leora Blakey. Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Griffith gave an anniversary party at their new home in Lomita which Miss Blakey attended. Mrs. Anna Chandler returned Sunday evening from Costa Mesa where she spent several days assisting in the care of her mother, who fell and broke a rib recently.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. P. Hell and family spent Sunday afternoon in the home of Mr. Hell's sister, Mrs. Valley Harding, at Bolsa. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mohr, of Long Beach, were Saturday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McCoy. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lawrence visited Sunday evening at Garden Grove with Mrs. Janie Sanders and Charles Sanders. Mrs. Frank Turner of Stanton, attended church services Sunday at the local Presbyterian church and was a luncheon guest of Mrs. Virginia Patterson. Mrs. R. A. Weld and the two

Soft water keeps clothes white

HARD water always leaves clothes gray, no matter how much you wash and rinse. Hard water has something in it with which the soap combines. Scum forms at once. This scum gets into clothes. You never can rinse it all out. Soften hard water with Melo and you have a very fine cleaner, with or without soap. Scum doesn't form in this water. Clothes washed in it are as white as snow. Melo gives soap more effect on clothes. Get a can of Melo today at your grocer's.

younger children, Evangeline and Esther Lois, are spending this week at their mountain cabin at Mount Baldy. Sunday evening, the Rev. R. A. Weld and daughter, Miss Vivian Weld with a number of other young people of the Christian Endeavor society of this place motored to Brea, where at the First Congregational church they attended the county meeting of young people's societies. Mrs. C. Phillips and Miss Beth Phillips, of Santa Ana, mother and sister of Mrs. H. B. Anderson, were Sunday visitors in the Anderson home. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, who are spending some months in Los Angeles from Hammond, Ind., spent Saturday with their aunt and cousin, Mrs. A. L. Blakey and Miss Leora Blakey. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Johnson of Fullerton, who were early day settlers in the Westminster colony, called on old friends in the community Saturday. Mrs. Ernest Loomis was the honoree at a birthday anniversary dinner given for her Sunday in the home of her sister, Mrs. Flora Thomas, in Long Beach. Those included in the party besides Mr. and Mrs. Loomis and the hostess were a sister, Miss Clara Miller and nephew, Mr. Thomas, and his daughter of Los Angeles. In the evening a surprise was carried out by friends, Mr. and Mrs. Preston, Joe Preston and Miss Miller of Long Beach, who motored out, bringing ice cream and a large angel food cake. Mrs. Loomis was remembered with many gifts. At a committee meeting of members of the Happy Workers society in charge of the supper which is to be given as a benefit for the society, the date was set as April 12 and initial steps in the arrangement of a program for the evening were taken. The special missionary series which have been held at the Westminster Presbyterian church came to a close Sunday evening. On Sunday evening the concluding service was made very interesting by the reading of a letter from a Mr. Bell, a missionary in Africa, who is a friend of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Case.

700 Persons Hear Address By Pasadena Minister

CHURCH GOSPEL HELD BASIC IN NATION'S LIFE

"Christian gospels are absolutely basic in the life of the human race, they are essential to the unfolding of the national life of the world," declared Dr. Daniel F. Rittenhouse, pastor of the First Baptist church at Pasadena, who addressed the interdenominational rally held in the First Methodist church here last night. It was the last of the four dedicatory programs for the new educational-social unit. Seven hundred people were present.

"We've got to put this church gospel across," he continued.

"In order for any nation to rise to the point of supremacy, it must be based on the solid sure foundation of righteousness.

"America sits in the seat of pre-eminence among the moral and spiritual sisterhood with the countries of the world, but we can never have international righteousness that will stick until we all sit around the feet of our Lord—there is no hope for an unbroken peace in the nations of the earth until we have the gospel of Jesus Christ."

"There is no scientific progress worth speaking about, and no speaking progress in any nation of the world without the Christian gospel," he said. "Where there is no Christ, where there is no gospel, intellectual power is at a minimum."

Dr. Rittenhouse described the achievements of the human race inspired by co-operation, using the new building here as an apt example, and concluded his remarks with the words:

"We must have a new social righteousness that will recognize all peoples of the earth, regardless of their color or race, and the day of that social righteousness will come when all men begin to be fused in the spirit of a common Lord."

Dr. Rittenhouse was introduced by the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church in Santa Ana.

The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in this city, explained how the new church unit stimulates faith and congratulated the Methodist members for their demonstration of real vision in the work of Christ.

"Equipped as you are you will move out into a large constructive ministry in the field of religious education," he said. "It is a great thing for us to be so equipped that we shall be able to do a well-founded, well-rounded, piece of work in the field of character building—for nothing is worth the making, if the making be not the man."

"It is the chief task, aim and goal in ministry, to touch men and women in the making."

"After all we are one. This new educational-social unit is a fine demonstration for our faith, of our sincerity in the common goal and purpose. We have one Lord, one faith, one kingdom and one fellowship; we are traveling in the same way and seeking to do the same sort of service."

"It is in that common purpose," he concluded, "that we find life's secret of joy and sink ourselves that He may have pre-eminence."

Dr. E. P. Robertson of the Wesleyan college, North Dakota, from which the Rev. George A. Warner, local minister, was graduated, was a guest last evening at the last of the dedicatory services. He concluded his congratulatory remarks and discussion of the relationship between science and theology, with the words:

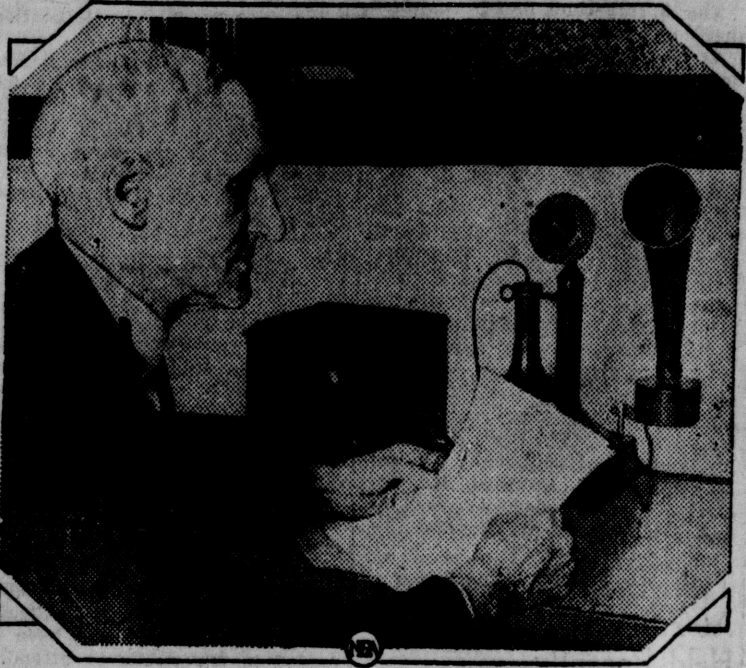

"It is because of God's spirit working in human society that we have these boys and girls working in the human train—candidates for life."

Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh gave a

The student loan fund drive finance committee reports that the fund is growing toward the ultimate goal of $2500 but that the campaign will be continued for several weeks. According to present plans, $2,500 is to be raised each year for three years and after that the fund will be self sustaining.

The purpose of the fund is to help worthy students secure a college education. The money loaned is paid back by the students after they are graduated.

A campaign conducted in city schools last week totaled $300. A total of $500 was subscribed by the following: Lulu Minter, Gus J. Daley, Mrs. W. H. Harrison, J. A. Cranston, George R. Wells, E. B. Sprague, F. L. Purinton, Mrs. Mary A. Pomeroy, Roy Russell, Mrs. R. E. Coulter, Dr. Roy S. Horton, Dr. G. M. Tralle, F. C. Skirvin, W. L. Deimling, Mrs. F. E. "OPERATION" IS PERFORMED AT CLUB SESSION

Members present at the meeting this morning of the Santa Ana Breakfast club witnessed a public demonstration of skilled surgery, when two physicians, a dentist, an optician and an undertaker operated upon a patient in their presence.

The charge that physicians co-operated with undertakers was given the lie when the patient left the operating table, after being allegedly relieved of several pieces of his anatomy, and called for ham and eggs.

Dr. Frank H. Paterson, chairman of the committee, officiated as chief cutter, and he was assisted in other functions of the "cut and carry" demonstration by Drs. K. H. Sutherland, M. A. Flood and Karl Loersch and Ernest Winbiger. When the operation had been completed, the patient threw off the shroud that covered him and revealed himself as C. F. (Skinny) Skirvin. He fainted when the bill was presented and was revived with difficulty.

In a brief address later, Dr. Paterson commented on the organizations of medical men and the value of the work the associations are doing in promotion of medical science and in elimination of quacks and quack medicines.

"The interest of the American Medical association in public health transcends that of any other organization in the world," Dr. Paterson said, in pointing out that the national organization, and its member organizations of state and county medical associations, maintain publications for the dissemination of information on new developments in the science of medicine.

Possibility of a joint meeting of the club and the Orange County Riding club on May 28 was announced by President Guy Gilbert, who named a committee to attend a meeting of the riding club at Fullerton tonight for discussion of the plans. Suggestion was made by E. S. Morrow that the club at some future date hold an early morning meeting at Hewes park, Morrow pointing out that the park offers every facility for a meeting of 150 persons. He had the assurance of D. Eymann Huff, who was his guest this morning, that Huff would arrange details for the breakfast any time the club wished to go to the park.

Miss Allien Lair, who has appeared frequently in club programs, was complimented by being voted an honorary member of the organization. Two vocal numbers by Hugh Rannels accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong, offered a part of the program.

JACKSON BEATS RHINEHART
WILMINGTON, March 7.—Sammy Jackson defeated Joe Rhinehart in an eight round bout here last night.

SEVEN YEARS IN THE WHITE HOUSE

Seven years in the White House have wrought little change in Calvin Coolidge. Here is pictorial evidence that the arduous life that has prematurely aged many chief executives of the past has had small effect on the silent, rugged man from Vermont. For the portrait at the left was made in 1923, when the death of Warren G. Harding brought Mr. Coolidge to the presidency. The portrait at the right is his most recent one and it's hard to differentiate between them. You'll note that his hair is a little thinner and grayer now. Too, his face now is more deeply lined, his mouth may be a bit more firm, but his eyes seem to have gained a quizzical twinkle. And Mr. Coolidge actually is leaving the White House 10 pounds heavier than when he entered it!

NOVEL BANQUET IS ENJOYED BY SHOP TEACHERS

Employing a novel and unique way of serving a banquet, the Fullerton high school acted as host last night to the members of the Orange County Vocational Shop Teachers' association at the regular monthly meeting.

The first step in the program was the distribution of knives and forks made from spring steel and a grill fashioned from brass tubing. Each shop teacher then received a raw beefsteak and passed on to the forge room. The open forges were burning brightly and the steaks were broiled over the coke fires. Hot baked potatoes were procured from the big gas furnace and hot rolls were found in the core oven.

The tables in the woodshop had been covered with paper and favors were provided at each place consisting of candy and machine nuts in Ford hubcaps. Coffee was passed in quart oil cans and the cream was delivered through a squirt oil can. Dessert proved to be chips of wood covered with chocolate and apple pie a la mode. Buns were passed in a large sand screen.

The main topic of discussion was type questions for boys in vocational shops. The aim of the organization is to formulate a set of queries which will enable an instructor to correctly place a boy coming from an outside school. The report was made that the annual convention of the state society would be held August 2 and 3 at Santa Barbara. Many county teachers were planning to attend. The next meeting of the county organization will be held at the Santa Ana high school, April 10.

At the close of the meeting, separate group discussions were held for the different craft represented. About 30 teachers were present.

HIGH SCHOOL AND JAYSEE NOTES

The Santa Ana junior college yearbook, the Algal, will cost jaysee students $3 if they do not have Associated Student Body tickets, according to an announcement made today by Fred Humiston, business manager of the publication.

Presidents of every club in the Santa Ana junior college will meet at Ketter's cafe Wednesday evening for a round table discussion. George Tobias, former student body president, is in charge of the affair, assisted by Mary Bruner, Adelaide Mueller, Keith Trickey and Willard White, present study body president.

Doyle Stockton, Carl Bergman and Rod Chamberlain have been selected to represent the Junior College Don at the press convention to be held at San Mateo Saturday. The Don is entering the February 29 issue in the contest.

Plans of activities for the remainder of the year were discussed last night at the joint meeting held by cabinets of the junior college Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. following a supper in the Y. building. George Tobias, chairman, urged close harmony between the men's and women's organizations.

The O. K. club of the junior college will hold an Easter egg hunt March 29 at the county park, according to an announcement made today. Maurice Guyer and Charlotte Brown are in charge of the plans.

Raymond Lindman, junior college public speaker and actor, will speak on the Eugene O'Neill play, "The Strange Interlude," at the meeting of the Anaheim Ebell club next Monday. Lindman witnessed the play last summer in New York.

Some night in the latter part of next week the Press club of the junior college will meet with a local newspaperman as speaker of the evening. It was announced today by Ruby Gray, chairman of the entertainment committee. The meeting will be in the form of a St. Patrick's day party.

That a larger library may be provided next fall to meet the growing demands of the students of the junior college was indicated yesterday through the announcement from D. K. Hammond, president of the college, that a request for such a provision is being made of the board of education.

STATE W. C. T. U. OFFICER TO TALK

ANAHEIM, March 7.—Mrs. Hattie Corline Young will be the speaker at the afternoon session of the Orange county executive board meeting of the W. C. T. U., which will be held in the First Presbyterian church tomorrow. Mrs. Young is the state recording secretary of the organization.

The meeting, which will open at 10 o'clock in the morning, will be in charge of Mrs. Estelle Harper, of Garden Grove, county president of the union.

The morning session will be devoted to reports of presidents and committees, the afternoon to addresses by state officers and the evening to a gold medal contest. The medal will be awarded to the best speech given on the work of the union during the past year. The contestants from Anaheim are Alberta Maass and Marion Lohr. The contest work here has been in charge of Mrs. Grace Spielman.

DON'T LET YOUR HANDS GET OLD!

Two-Minute Test Proves Them Naturally Young and Attractive

HERE'S good news for the capable woman who is not afraid to use her hands, even though she has not always been able, hitherto, to keep them as daintily smooth and white and young as she would like to have them.

No matter how busy your clever hands may be at housekeeping or office tasks, no matter how much you may have them in and out of water, you can now easily keep them as delightfully young-looking and attractive as the idliest hands.

It takes only two minutes—scarcely that—to give them this marvelous new kind of massage. No fuss, no bother. You just rub a little THINC Hand Creme (pronounced "think") into your parched, red hands. You note a startling improvement the very first time you try THINC. It instantly whitens your hands, smooths away all roughness and every tiny wrinkle. Gives your hands the texture and color of white rose petals!

Even the first two-minute test shows you how lovely your hands can be, how interesting and attractive. With this consistent daily care your hands need never become old-looking or unsightly. They will always be dazzling-white, soft, supple.

J. Stitt Wilson to Visit Santa Ana Junior College

Plans which call for the presentation of a full day of events including contact with J. Stitt Wilson, leader of student thought throughout the United States, were formulated Wednesday night when the cabinet officers of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. met in a joint meeting in the Y. Hut on the college campus.

Under the name the Y. M. and Y. W. day and with a tentative date of April 17, the occasion will include the dedication of the Y. M. C. A. room of the junior college which is being remodeled and refurnished as a social meeting place for the Y. M. C. A. J. Stitt Wilson will be secured to meet with students throughout the day. The morning will be occupied with conferences between student groups and Wilson. At a luncheon he will be a guest of the cabinet officers of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. At 1 o'clock he will address the assembly of the Associated Students. A banquet in the evening with Mr. Wilson as the main speaker will conclude the day's program.

With the Women students' preparing the supper and the men students the program and entertainment, the Wednesday night meeting of the two groups of officers assumed a jolly social nature. Included on the program were two delightful violin numbers by Miss Jane Stewart, Paul Allen and Miss Mary Bruner led alternately in a song service.

Those attending the meeting were Miss Dorothy Haynes, Miss Mary Bruner, Paul Allen, Miss Lena Mae Willsey, Delmar Brown, Miss Jane Stewart, Bill Hewitt, Miss Margaret Chapman, Miss Margaret Glenn, Miss Barbara Goodrich, Frank Miles, George Warner, Miss Pauline Neddermeyer, Harry Van Gorkum, George Tobias, Felix Garnsey, Howard Bear, Miss Eleanor Turner, and the faculty advisors, Mrs. John Tessmann, Miss Mabel Whiting, and L. L. Beeman.

Mischa Elman Greatest Violinist According To L. H. Behymer

Anticipations of the appearance in the Santa Ana high school auditorium on the night of March 22 of Mischa Elman, internationally known violinist, were considerably increased today among women of Santa Ana Ebbl society, as a result of the intimate glimpse into the life and attainments of the artist, vouchsafed them yesterday when L. E. Behymer, Los Angeles impresario, talked informally before section leaders of the society.

For it will be under the auspices of Ebbl that the noted violinist will be presented in this city, and consequently the members are keenly interested in anything pertaining to his talents, his musical life, and his preparations for the place he occupies today in the roster of the famous.

No one could be better fitted to inform them on the subjects than L. E. Behymer whose years of serving artists and public as impresario, have brought him in such close contact with the great and the near great, and whose friendship with Elman is a warmly personal one. So Mr. Behymer was complimented yesterday at a luncheon presented in the peacock room of the clubhouse, by the International Artists committee of which Miss Lula Minter is chairman. Miss Minter, Mrs. S. W. Nau, Mrs. Leonard G. Swales, Mrs. W. H. Harrison, Mrs. Cood Adams, and Mrs. Robert G. Tuthill as hostesses, planned a truly charming affair and had as their guests in addition to Mr. Behymer and Mrs. F. E. Coulter, Ebbl president, the leaders of the 18 sections of the society. Sweet peas served as floral decorations, and were arranged in shallow bowls looped together with ferns and asparagus fern and blossoms.

The appetizing menu was spiced with "idle chat of this and that," especially of writer and musical folk. In his formal talk at the conclusion of the luncheon, Mr. Behymer painted an appealing picture of Mischa Elman and his poverty-stricken childhood in the little town of Kief in Russia, where his father was a poor cobblers, earning the equivalent of 9 cents a day in our money, and rearing on that pitiful sum, a family of 8 children.

Small Mischa's musical talent developed early, and soon attracted the attention of the townpeople, and Mr. Behymer dwelt upon that interest that manifested itself in the form of a benefit where money was earned to send the child to Warsaw for lessons under the great Leopold Auer.

Drawing a parallel between Elman's antecedents and those of Efram Zimbalist, the speaker told of how the latter, a son of the leader of the Moscow Grand opera, was sent at about the same time, and the two lads made their musical debut together at the age of 14 when they were sent to Petrograd to play before the Czar and the imperial family. There was a touch of pathos in descriptions of the child Mischa, and his difficulties when confronted with the unfamiliar demands of society and social usages, yet the stories were told with a touch of kindly humor that might have been given them, had Elman himself been the raconteur.

Such experiences made it very natural that the lad, after reaching manhood and coming to the United States, should enter Harvard University for two years, and there demand a tutor who should be able to teach him the little niceties of social etiquette as well as the bigger things in education. It was all a part of the consistent growth that makes him today, the logical successor to the "greatest violinist of the day" (to quote Mr. Behymer) Fritz Kreisler.

"I do not say that Russia has produced the greatest musicians of the world, but we have had the greatest versatility from that country of sorrow, stress and sadness," he continued, citing Leopold Auer, Fritz Kreisler, Mischa Elman, Jascha Heifetz, Toscha Seidel and Efram Zimbalist as examples.

"I truly believe that Mischa Elman is today, one of the greatest violinists in the world, second perhaps, only to Kreisler," declared the speaker. "He has a pure singing tone, a boyish fervor and an analytical idea that few artists attain. The shading, beauty and subtlety of his tones, are second to none, and because of his interest in playing to a Santa Ana audience, I am confident that he will give you all there is in his heart, his mind and his fingers—and Elman has the most talkative fingers on the violin that I have ever heard unless it be Fritz Kreisler."

The specially chosen program will be announced in the near future, and in the meantime, those who wish to hear the concert may obtain tickets at the Santa Ana Book store, with the reserved seat sale to open Monday, March 18.

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Quick of 1608 East Fourth street were gracious hosts last night when they presided over a brilliant reception held in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary.

—Mary Smart Studio.

In the midst of lovely golden bloom that perhaps outlived the flowers at their wedding of fifty years ago, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Quick of 1608 East Fourth street, greeted the many friends who gathered at their home yesterday to congratulate them upon the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

Feathery acacia made a beautiful background for the fragile daffodils and the graceful pink roses that were used in profusion throughout the home. Many of the bouquets were from the gardens of those friends of the Quicks who have known and loved them during their long residence in Santa Ana.

All during the afternoon and evening, guests were arriving and taking their departure and every-where the listener heard men and women talking of the part played by the Quicks in the history of Santa Ana. There were comments on the fine things in life for which the two have always stood and on the high ideals that they have always held before them through the years, ideals that have largely been responsible for the high place Mr. and Mrs. Quick hold in the hearts of Santa Anans.

Mrs. Quick, in her becoming gown of deep blue crepe de chine with silver slippers and hose made a charming picture, lovely as any bride of today and her husband's devotion was marked, as though the occasion were their wedding day and not their golden anniversary.

Throughout the afternoon and evening Mr. and Mrs. Quick were assisted in their duties by their nieces, Miss Grace M. Grigsby, Mrs. Frank W. Pitzek, Mrs. Leland Richey, Mrs. Lloyd Poplin, Mrs. Martha Wright, Mrs. Karl Anderson, Mrs. Jessie White, and Miss Elsie Snively.

Friends who assisted in serving the delicious refreshments included Mrs. C. W. Burns, Mrs. J. S. Smart, Mrs. Kenneth Newell, Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mrs. Helen Hill, Mrs. Smith Bacon, Mrs. T. A. Winbigler, Miss Daisy Williams, Miss Marjorie Lusk and Miss Lillian Biglow.

Mrs. Quick, who was Miss Martha Grigsby, became the bride of Mr. Quick in a little town in Illinois where they made their home for eight years following their marriage when they moved to Santa Ana, Calif. Ever since then they have lived in this city.

In Friday's Register a more detailed account of Mr. and Mrs. Quick's life will be published.

Guests at the affair who are from Mr. and Mrs. Quick's former home in Fulton county included F. M. Grigsby and his daughters, Miss Grace Grigsby and Mrs. Stella Grigsby Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. George N. Grigsby, Miss Elsie Snively, John W. Grigsby, Georgia Grigsby Richey, Hazel Grigsby Poplin, (Mrs. Richey and Mrs. Poplin are daughters of Joseph Grigsby who was unable to be present) Mrs. Nettie Wright, Mrs. Dollie Cline, Dinsley, W. W. Halesworth, the Rev. and Mrs. F. E. Eoley, all of Cuba; Mrs. Jessie Wilcoxen White of Lewistown; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Lenner of Canton; and Josephine Quick Jeffery and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Orwig of Flat.

Young Girl Honored At Pretty Party

Miss Rosemary Moats who is to leave soon for Montebello where she will make her home in the future was charmingly complimented when a group of school friends gathered at the home of Miss Betty Jane Moore, 2076 North Main street, for a farewell party.

Games bespeaking the approach of St. Patrick's day were enjoyed and at a late hour the young hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. B. Moore, served delicious refreshments that further carried out the Irish motif.

Those who enjoyed the affair with Miss Moore and Miss Moats were Miss Frances Tibbets, Miss Florence Liggett, Miss Katherine McDermott, and Miss Ruth Ellen Dunlap.

Thirteenth Birthday Anniversary Is Gay Affair

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. John Dohmer of South Sycamore street, gay with its baskets of sweet peas, freasias and other spring flowers, made a lovely setting for the pretty birthday party given in honor of Miss Ruth Louise Dohmer recently. The occasion was the thirteenth birthday anniversary of the young honoree.

Entertaining games and contests added to the gaiety of the evening and appropriate prizes were won by Miss Lucille Reynolds and Miss Mary Anna Baxter.

A dainty supper was served at small tables where the St. Patrick's motif was carried out. Guests included the Misses Audrey Delmar, Lois Waldren, Lucille Reynolds, Hazel Hart, Phyllis Gerard, Mary Anna Baxter, Marjorie Knox, Janet Delhi, Jeanette Lewis, Jeanette Roby, Marian Hester, Maxine Gidcomb, Frances Roberts, Farla Nell Clayton, Alberta Sanford and Patricia McClure.

Beethoven Selections Will Be Presented Tonight

Lovers of Beethoven are interested in the recital featuring his compositions that is to be presented tonight, 7:30 o'clock, at the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music by the Famous Composers class that is directed by Holly Lash Visel.

Miss Eleanor Spencer of Laguna Beach, who is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, will take part in the program, presenting the "Waldstein Sonata." Miss Spencer's ability has gained her an enviable reputation throughout the county where she has taken part in concerts and musical programs.

Three talented pupils of Elwood Bear, violinist, will present lovely selections. Ralph Green will play "Romance in F," Audrey Gravis "Rondino" and Paul Wine "Turkish March," by Beethoven-Auer. The Collins twins, radio favorites, will sing the "Minuet in G."

Indian Baritone On B. P. W. Program

Mrs. John A. Tessmann, president of the Business and Professional Women's club, has received an invitation for the Santa Ana clubwomen to join the Anaheim club in a dinner and program to be held tonight in the Anaheim Elks clubhouse.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock, according to the announcement made by Miss Babe Hart, president of the hostess club, and reservations may be made by calling Anaheim 861. For the entertainment program, the Indian baritone, Haskenswood, has been secured, and will present a concert that promises to be of unusual value. This talented young Indian has created a sensation in eastern musical circles.

Another pending event in B. and P. W. circles which is of local interest, is the district board meeting scheduled for Saturday afternoon and evening in Pomona. Many members of the Santa Ana organization are planning to be present for the dinner and evening program, which will be given in Pomona Ebbl clubhouse.

Parliamentary Class Holds Meeting

Members of the Parliamentary class of the Parent-Teacher association held an interesting discussion of "Reports and Nominations" yesterday when they met at the McKinley school. The class, which is open to any P.-T. A. member who wishes to be present, was well attended.

The next meeting of the organization will take place March 21.

Suffered for years from Stomach Indigestion and Gas

It was impossible for this woman to eat anything without distress. She took Agel. She writes: "I gradually found I could eat everything. A sufferer from high blood pressure, accompanied by nervousness, writes that after taking Agel he 'felt like a new man.' Letters like this are received daily. One woman says: 'Everyone tells me how well I look, but only I know how well I feel.'"

Appointments For Party Are Carried Out In Pink, Green

What more lovely time for entertaining than Spring? Thus thought Mrs. Harry F. Coleman when she decorated her pretty home at 1502 North Flower street with quantities of pink sweet peas for the dinner party over which she and Mr. Coleman presided last night.

The Spring-time motif was further carried out in the dainty little pink and green nut cups that had been especially made for the party by Mrs. Coleman and in the tallies and place cards.

When scores were added at the end of a happy evening at five hundred, Mrs. W. Earl Patterson was found to be high while her husband was second high. In all of the years that Mr. and Mrs. Patterson have been playing cards neither one had ever won a prize before. Mrs. Ray Echols and Sidney J. Babcock were low.

Those present for the affair included Mr. and Mrs. Coleman, hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Joe McKee, Mr. and Mrs. W. Earl Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Echols, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Babcock, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Vandermast, and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ross.

Twin Brothers Honored At Farewell Party Held Recently

A farewell party given recently by Miss Irene Blower for her twin brothers, Elbert Blower and Albert Blower, who have left for their home in Florida, at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Blower of 1720 Poinsettia avenue, was one of the most delightful of this week's affairs.

Rook was played during the evening and Miss Violet Feltner and Gail Harmon scored high while Mrs. Gail Harmon and Lloyd Smith were low. They received attractive awards.

A delicious supper was served at the card tables where appointments were carried out in the St. Patrick motif.

Guests included the Misses Hazel Smith, Violet Feltner, Frances Birtcher, Ruth Winter, Grace Denison, Mayme Denison, Eleanor Guyer, Frances Knudson, Mary Louise Budrow, Vera Morrison of Santa Ana; Fay Bortz of Orange; and Julia Nisson of Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. James Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Helm, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Harmon, Frank Humphrey, Victor Morrison, Millard Beemer, Lloyd Morris, Lloyd Smith, Dick Taylor, Ray Walworth, Fayette Birtcher, Stocky Stockbridge, Fayette Blower.

You and Your Friends

Because of the revolution in Mexico the trip of the California Press association to that country has been postponed. Association members were to have left today. Orange county men planning to make the trip included J. F. Cramer and W. O. Hart of Orange.

Mrs. Alice H. Harris, formerly of this city, who has been ill at the Hollywood hospital for some time has been moved to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Michael Thompson of 1222 South Stanley avenue, Los Angeles.

Mrs. C. M. McCain of 1386 Grand avenue who underwent an operation at the California Lutheran hospital recently is reported to be improving.

Mrs. W. L. Grubb of 119 Edgewood avenue is recovering rapidly following a long illness.

Blue Pencil Club Plans Meeting

Although members of the Blue Pencil club were unable to hold their usual meeting this week, they are already making plans for a meeting to take place March 19 when an entertaining program, arranged by Robert Murrill will be presented.

According to Ted Newcomb, president of the organization, the feasibility of dividing the Blue Pencil club into two distinct groups will be discussed at that time. If the two clubs are formed in place of the one, the first will be known as the Writers' club and the second will continue as Blue Pencil club.

The first group will devote itself to the writing of short stories while the second will continue its study of newspaper journalism.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

The Imperial Order of Hips. Some of us eat to live, while the great proportion live to eat, and then worry about it.

They step onto every scale that comes their way and greet with growing horror their rapid admission to the Imperial Order of Hips. Then they rush for a diet guaranteed to return them to willow-ward proportions in just a few days. The lamb-chop-and-pineapple diet has laid many a proud lady low with its poor balance!

Any reduction diet to be safe, and efficient at the same time, MUST allow sufficient carbohydrates to burn up the body fat, otherwise what I call "clinkers" are left in the system to produce an acid condition which is exceedingly dangerous.

Fat digests ONLY in proper combination with starchy foods... not necessarily bread, potatoes, rice and cereals.

Fruits, leafy and root vegetables provide starches that burn the body fat and at the same time do not add further weight.

Reasonable amounts of other starches (bread, potatoes, etc.) must be taken to supply some energy.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Apple Snowdrifts
4 large firm apples
2 tablespoons melted butter
1-2 cup strained honey
Shredded coconut
1-4 cup boiling water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Uh-huh and yes! Just another version of baked apple, but an extra good one in which vitamins are well represented.

Select apples that will not cook to pieces, pare, core and cut in quarters; dip each quarter in melted butter, then in honey and roll in the coconut.

Arrange in a buttered baking dish and pour over them a cooking syrup made by boiling together with honey, lemon juice and boiling water.

Cover and bake in a moderately hot oven until the apples can be easily pierced. Chill and serve with the syrup in which they are cooked.

Four generous portions are in this recipe and the calorie total runs into 1500 with vitamins in the lemon juice and honey and mineral elements in the apples... alkalines to be exact.

"To be or not to be, that is the question." Do you want to be slender and good-looking, or FAT and peaceful?

Of course, you'll be peaceful if you allow yourself to get to the fat point... and that remark needs no further elaboration!

If you are interested in keeping your weight within bounds send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for this week's leaflet, OVERWEIGHT, ITS CAUSE AND CURE. No charge this week, remember.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER

Most everybody has a family of one sort or another, in various shapes and sizes of personalities. Which is why nobody should miss reading "Nothing Is Sacred," by Josephine Herbst. It is a tale of alternate family friction and family loyalty.

It starts with Harry Norland asking his mother-in-law, Mrs. Winter, if he can speak to her a minute. The minute reveals that he has appropriated the funds of the lodge of which he is treasurer, and that the auditor is on his trail and he must have $700 immediately.

The fun begins. Both Mr. and Mrs. Winter rather despise Harry. But, "There's Julia and the children. They must be spared disgrace."

Hazel, another daughter, and Ralph, learning that mother and father Winter will have to put a mortgage upon their house in order to raise the money for Harry, remember that when it looked as if father and mother Winter could not keep up the payments, they gave up their own home and went there to live in order to help with family expenses.

RECALL LUXURIES
They remember the things Harry and Julia always had which "we never could afford." That $150 dress suit of Harry, and at Christmas he gave Julia a new wedding ring and had her engagement ring set in a new platinum setting.

Hazel remembers, of course, that Ralph has no dress suit and that she'll probably continue to wear her plain solid gold Tiffany set engagement ring to the end of time. They remember Harry's and Julia's grand piano, too, and their new furniture and car—"We drive a second-hand one ourselves," recalls Hazel.

Mrs. Winter, who faces the mortgage of her home in her old age, doesn't say quite so much. "I don't want Julia to have everything taken away. The piano is a great comfort," she says.

Harry attempts to square himself and erect some sort of defense against his family's reproaches by reminding them that he is a man with a family; that Ralph without any children

BANISH THAT EXTRA FAT

Do it in the easy, pleasant way, in the modern, scientific way. Not by abnormal exercise or diet, but by combating the great cause of excess fat.

That way is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. So now you can see, on every hand, the results this method brings. New beauty, new health, new vitality. If you envy those results, learn the way to get them.

A book in every box of Marmola tells you the formula, also the reasons for all it does. You will have no fear of harm. Get it today and watch the results. Learn how much it means to you in many ways. Do this for those who wish to admire you. Just ask your druggist for doesn't know what it means to support them.

"Some of the rest of you fellows don't know what it costs to run a family," Harry tells the lodge board of directors when the auditor summons them. "I can tell you it costs something nowadays to keep a family going and every man likes to see his family get the best that's coming to them. I'm not trying to excuse myself. But I only ask you to consider yours if you were in my shoes, and so I ask you to consider mine now."

A VIRTUOUS MAN
"He knew talking of his family was his best line, the men melted at the reference to his family. After all, Harry was known to be virtuous, he didn't booze, and he didn't run after women. He was a good family man."

Harry quite evades any suggestion that he might have considered these responsibilities of being a family man before he got into it, or that other men manage to swing their families without defaulting the lodge books.

Hazel and Hilda, another Winter girl, and Julia all have their own individual marital complications, each envying the other two, eternally contrasting her lot and her husband with their, always to the detriment of her own.

And yet with all the bickering and carping and envy, the family stands by. One of the most honest stories of family life ever written, strangely reminiscent, in a way, of Margery Latimer's "We Are Incredible."

WEST COAST-WALKER

"Interference," closing tonight at the Walker theater, is one of the finest of the all-talking pictures, and undoubtedly the fact of the noted stars being audible as well as visible, adds to the interest. Early faults of the talking films seem to be eliminated, and the effect of the voices is almost the same as watching the dramatic story unfold on the stage—or in real life. Clive Brook's pronounced English accent is an interesting thing, and is almost most equalled by that of William Powell, who without doubt, does the finest screen work of his career as "Philip Vorse." It is the role of a polished man of the world—and a villain. Yet Powell invests it with so much suavity and finesse, that he enlists the sympathies of an audience by the suggestion of inner fineness.

"Interference," will give place tomorrow, to the next in the theater's "all-talking" program, which as it happens, will be Richard Dix in "Redskin."

Entertainment features with "Interference" are purely secondary in interest, but nevertheless offer some excellent dancing and musical numbers.

YOST BROADWAY

A tour of Southern California's largest oil fields adds an additional bit of entertainment to Universal's thrilling human drama, "The Shakedown," opening today at Yost's Broadway theater for a three days' run.

Director William Wyler, in order to get atmosphere for this picture of boxing "racketeers" who operate in wealthy oil centers, took his company on location to Signal Hill, Torrance, Santa Fe Springs, Bakersfield and Montebello, famous as oil producing fields.

As a result of working in and around the derricks with regular employees the players learned much about operating a well. In making scenes for the picture they were called upon to drill a shaft, pull up casing, cap the overflow and handle the pumps.

On one occasion in the Santa Fe field they aided struggling workers in capping a new gusher that had caught fire as it came in. James Murray and Barbara Kent portray the leading roles.

In addition to the screen entertainment is the enjoyable Broadway Revue, featuring Barbara Bedford, screen star, in "Musical Moments," and other entertaining vaudeville numbers.

WEST END

The total cost of producing Cecil B. De Mille's great picture, "The King of Kings," now billed at the West End theater, was $2,500,000. In point of expense for gigantic sets, costumes, properties and the salaries paid more than 5000 players and extras appearing in the various scenes, no other picture ever produced is comparable to "The King of Kings."

In addition to 539 actors of reputation appearing in the cast, more than 4500 extras were employed. The task of providing this vast army of men and women with innumerable accessories in addition to the costumes, ranging from beards to money bags and from shawls to phylacteries, was tremendous.

Well-known players in the cast include H. B. Warner, Victor Varconi, Rudolph Schildkraut, Jacqueline Logan, Julia Faye, May Robson, Bryant Washburn, Montagu Love, William Boyd, Theodore Kosloff, Ernest Torrence, Robert Eddison, Sally Rand, and scores of others, equally famous in the screen world.

Mesa Land Owners Plan Suit Against Oil Company

TOPOGRAPHICAL MAP URGED IN LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, March 7.—Need of a topographical map, with a survey of streets and establishment of grades, has been favorably reported by A. B. Marshall, committee member from the chamber of commerce, with the recommendation that a bond election be held to provide funds.

Favorable comment or endorsement has been made by other civic bodies, and it is expected that the matter will be made a matter of general public concern within the next month or so. The estimated cost of such work, covering dedicated streets, is $25,000.

Until such survey is made it is not safe for any work to be carried on, it has been pointed out. Grades are not established, and those who proceed without adequate information may find that their expensive improvements are not correctly located, it has been stated by engineers.

At a meeting of a luncheon club held in the Community club recently, the city council was invited to attend and hear the reason why such a map should be prepared and why a general survey is likely to be a matter of economy. All who attended the meeting expressed themselves as convinced of the need.

The matter has been agitated for more than a year, members of the first council of the city having frequently referred to the need of such work as preliminary to other improvements.

Islands Off Coast Topic For Rotary

FULLERTON, March 7.—Speaking on the islands off the coast of Southern California, of which Santa Catalina is probably the best known, A. Haven Smith of the Orange Rotary club gave incidents concerning these islands yesterday at the regular meeting of the Fullerton Rotary club at noon yesterday. The other two islands to which Smith referred are San Clemente and San Nicholas, the latter being the one with which he dealt particularly. This small island is about 100 miles off the coast of Orange county and its population consists of a sheep herder and his flock.

At one time, according to Smith, who has obtained records of the history of this island, there was a large group of Indians living on there but they were taken off by the mission fathers when it was feared that the island would no longer support them.

L. B. SANITARY DISTRICT TO ELECT MAR. 11

LAGUNA BEACH, March 7.—Election of three directors of the Laguna Beach sanitary district is set for March 11 at the office of the board in the Benson building on Forest avenue.

Less than a month ago an effort was made to dissolve the district, but this failed by a decisive vote. The authority of the district was superseded by the municipality in June, 1927, but this fact was not discovered for nearly a year and a half. But though the law provides for the superior authority of the city, no method is outlined whereby the city takes over the district previously established but coming within its corporate limits.

Doubt has been expressed as to whether there will be any one willing to assume places on the board in the light of its doubtful legality. In such event the present board would be compelled to hold over it is said.

That a court decision may be required in order to point the course by which the city may assume its obligations, now being handled by the board, is the opinion given by legal counsel.

BEACH LEGION ASKS CITY TO GET AIRPORT

NEWPORT BEACH, March 7.—Legionnaires of this city favor the municipal airport, but do not as yet favor any one site over another.

One of the sites for a small airport, or emergency landing field for planes, is between the Coast highway and the bay, a little east of the Arches crossing. Some favor a larger piece of ground, which might become a regular airport in time. The bay site is about 11 acres in area, while it is said that the federal government recommends at least 40 acres for the smallest airports and up to 640 acres for the larger ones.

The Legion asks the city to acquire an airport as soon as possible, but did not favor any particular site.

The harbor post favors Bob Miller, of Fullerton, for district commander. This district is comprised of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, and an Orange county man will be selected, it is expected.

At the next meeting of the local post, on March 19, there will be a number of amateur boxing bouts, the program being arranged by Byron Marshall.

The Legionnaires are going in for night baseball next summer in earnest. Tuesday night they moved to organize a six-club harbor league, with three clubs in this city and three in Costa Mesa. The beach clubs will probably be the Legion, city employees and arts and crafts.

LA HABRA PASTOR RESIGNS APRIL 1

LA HABRA, March 7.—The Rev. E. R. Black, pastor of the Christian church, has tendered his resignation as pastor of the church, effective April 1. The Rev. Mr. Black, who is a teacher in the Pacific Bible seminary, will devote his entire time to teaching there and his family will move to Los Angeles shortly.

CITY COUNCIL APPROVES NAMES OF ARTISTS FOR LAGUNA BEACH STREETS

LAGUNA BEACH, Mar. 7.—Renaming of every street in Laguna Beach with names of artists was recommended by the reality committee at a meeting of the city council last night. The council approved the idea and asked that the suggested names for the streets be presented at once.

The streets will bear the names of well known artist alphabetically arranged if the plan is followed. Names beginning with the first letters of the alphabet will be used in both directions north and south of Broadway it was reported. The proposed plan calls for prefixes for the names to show in which part of town they are located.

The reality committee will be assisted in the selection of the names by the members of the Laguna Beach Art association. So far as is known it was said, the city will be the only one with streets named for artists.

The plan is said to have the support of local organizations and has met with no opposition.

William W. Riddell, well known artist, is a member of the city council.

SAN CLEMENTE C. C. BACKS SCOUT PLANS

SAN CLEMENTE, March 7.—The San Clemente Chamber of Commerce at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night went on record as endorsing the plan of the San Clemente post American Legion, in forming a Scout troop. The chamber will assist in every way in making this city a Scout center for Orange county this spring and summer.

It is hoped, says Dan Mulhron, president of the civic organization, to have Scout troops of the county make San Clemente their summer and vacation headquarters, using the pier, beach and beach club as recreational centers.

It was announced by Oscar Easley, vice president of the Men's club, that a dance will be held in the clubhouse Saturday evening.

Quick Relief From Constipation

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No gripping to the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bed-time.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

U. S. EXPERT TO VIEW NEWPORT AIRPORT SITES

NEWPORT BEACH, March 7.—That a federal government aviation expert will visit this city on March 19 to look over the airport situation was revealed at the weekly meeting of the Exchange club yesterday by City Councilman Harry H. Williamson, of the city council's special committee on the airport matter.

Some time ago an Exchange club committee suggested an emergency landing or small airport be established on land owned by the city between the Coast highway and the bay. City Engineer R. L. Patterson, a member of this committee, was asked by the council to report on the cost of grading the land, and will bring in a report at next Monday night's council meeting.

It is understood that other sites are being considered and that an effort may be made to look further toward the future and secure a close-in airport larger than the one fronting on the bay.

Judge R. T. Walters, of Whittier, talked to the Exchange club yesterday. He said that if he were an agriculturist in the northern part of Orange county he would be in favor of developing Newport harbor.

The great men of history have been thinkers, rather than talkers said Judge Walters, who said that he was in favor of giving the state legislature a five-year holiday "until the people of the state can digest some of the laws already passed."

Judge Walters favors preventive measures as a cure for the "crime wave," and said that 100 years from now the people will look back with horror and disgust at so-called civilized peoples of today who practice hanging and other forms of capital punishment as a cure for crime.

He also said he is opposed to "commissions" of every kind, as they are not a proper adjunct of "responsible government."

BREA CIVIC BODY PAID $30 FOR JUNK

BREA, Mar. 7.—Three tons of metal clippings were hauled last week from the Brea Boiler works to a Los Angeles junk market, it was reported yesterday by Mack Senn, of Mac's Trucking company, speaking before the chamber of commerce. The metal brought approximately $30, Senn reported, and much more is yet to be hauled. At last week's meeting of the chamber Mrs. W. E. Hurst, proprietor of the works, offered the metal to the chamber, the proceeds to be used for paying for the annual health survey made in the Brea schools by the National Tuberculosis association. The survey will cost $50.

A. H. Brown, chairman of the land committee, reported several industrial tracts logged and that he had secured a new site for the Chik-san Oil Tool company, available whenever the firm is ready to begin its proposed expansion program.

H. M. Massey, president, named the industrial committee, of which O. S. Crowell is chairman, as the distinguished guests committee which will greet the government investigators and committee members when they arrive in Brea for the purpose of looking over the tract which the chamber of Commerce has submitted as a proposed dirigible site.

Opposition For Sanitary Board Directors Lacking

LA HABRA, March 7.—No campaigning is expected to occur at the election to be held next Monday, when three directors of the sanitary board will be named. Those whose terms expire, W. L. York, L. Lindauer and A. C. Early, have consented to run again. They have no opposition.

Election officers will be Octavia M. Phillips, inspector; Mrs. F. V. Taylor and Mrs. Ada Varney, judges. The election booths will be in the city hall.

Y. W. C. A. Board Names Officers

ORANGE, March 7.—Members of the Y. W. C. A. board elected officers at a recent meeting held at the high school, as follows: President, Mrs. M. L. Pearson; vice president, Mrs. A. Haven Smith; secretary, Mrs. Percy Green, and treasurer, Mrs. Jack Clayton. Mrs. Pearson was re-elected to head the board.

A camp committee was appointed with Mrs. Clayton as the chairman. Plans were made for a luncheon meeting to be held April 6, at which time Mrs. Ada French of the national board of the Girl Reserves will be in Orange.

Arrange Funeral Of Orange Woman

ORANGE, March 7.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at the Gillogly funeral chapel for Mrs. Lillie Clayton, 33, who passed away yesterday morning after a lingering illness. The services will be in charge of the Rev. B. D. Webster, of the Church of Christ, and interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mrs. Clayton is survived by her husband, John Clayton, and five small children, Lester, Charles, Doela, Christine and Irene. She had been a member of the Church of Christ for a number of years. The family has lived in Orange for the past three years.

Don't Get Up Nights

Rev. D. Lee, Portsmouth, N. H. Says, "Come or write to 101 Cregent Way, and I will tell you how in a short time the bladder irritation was relieved by Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). My case was of long standing and painful. It acted on bladder as opium salts do on bowels. Drives out foreign deposits and lessens excessive acidity. This relieves the irritation that causes getting up nights. The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores, Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio, or locally at Santa Ana Drug Co.—Adv.

Improvements For Streets At Sunset Beach C. C. Subject

SUNSET BEACH, March 7.—Further improvement of streets of Sunset Beach was the topic of discussion at the recent meeting of the chamber of commerce. Members of the chamber concurred in the opinion that the proposed improvements to streets should be similar to that done on Pacific avenue, which parallels the Pacific Electric right-of-way on the south.

During the discussion it was pointed out that the next street to be improved probably would be Broadway.

A resolution was adopted supporting the passage of senate bill No. 5, known as the Orange county harbor bill, providing for the creation of a harbor district in Orange county. A resolution calling for the support of a plan whereby the architecture now in general use in the state is to be called California style was adopted.

FOUNDER'S DAY PROGRAM GIVEN AT OCEANVIEW

OCEANVIEW, March 7.—Founder's day and fathers' night were observed Tuesday evening by the Oceanview Parent-Teacher association, with 250 persons in attendance. Mrs. Frost was chairman of the social committee, while Miss Gardner, music teacher of the school, was in charge of the Glee club. The pupils of the seventh grade, with the addition of one member of the eighth grade, presented the play, "Founders' Day," with Wallace Blacklock leading the leading part. Mrs. Iva Masters was director.

An orchestra composed of Mrs. J. H. Fryor, pianist; Dean Fryor, violin; Edward Ruoff, cornet; E. J. Russell, clarinet; Ray Breeding, saxophone, opened the program.

Two groups of songs were presented by the Girls' Glee club of the school.

Mrs. R. A. Shostag, the first president and organizer of the local P.-T. A., told of the first two years' work; Mrs. W. DeLaverne, second president of the following year, and Mrs. Otto Irwin of last year. This the sixth year of its organization, is proving an exceptional year under the leadership of Mrs. Vida Fryor. Names of the charter members of the P.-T. A. were given, Prof. R. A. Shostag, principal of the school, being the only man's name on the roll.

TEACHERS MEET

OCEANVIEW, March 7.—A 100 per cent attendance was registered at the sectional school meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Oceanview school, all of the teachers from the local, Westminster, Springdale, Bolsa, Greenville, Paulerino and Newport schools being present for the classes. B. F. Beswick, supervisor; Miss Loose, music instructor, and Mrs. Glines, penmanship instructor of the county, conducted separate groups.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

ORGAN RECITAL IS PRESENTED AT MESA

COSTA MESA, March 7.—The third organ recital in the Community church was presented Monday evening with the Rev. L. R. Bayard at the organ. This recital was combined with a lecture on "Appreciation of Good Music" each new point being illustrated with organ numbers.

Mozart's "E Flat Minuet" and Grieg's "Morning" were given as illustrations of musical form, descriptive music, Rhapsodies, fantasies, and caprices, numbers without musical forms, were also illustrated.

Early history of music was given and illustrated in regard to rhythm, melody and harmony.

One needed requisite to enjoy good music, the Rev. Bayard remarked, was to relax and cast all thoughts of business from the mind.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, March 7.—Mrs. Ray McCormick surprised Mr. McCormick at a birthday party Saturday evening, three couples being invited in to play cards. Refreshments of birthday cake and coffee were served. Mr. McCormick was recipient of several gifts.

Those enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Oleson and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wood, of Huntington Beach.

Friends of the family of Ed Hyder gathered Saturday afternoon in the Dixon funeral chapel in Huntington Beach to pay their last respects to Mrs. Hyder, whose death occurred following many years of ill health. The Rev. Mr. Hurst, pastor of the First Christian church of Huntington Beach, preached the funeral service, while two duets, "Shall We Gather at the River" and "The Home of the Soul," were rendered by Mrs. Herrod and Mrs. Amy Worthy, pallbearers of this community included Chris Nelson, Perle Elliott, William McGuire, John Stinson and Mel Coker, the sixth being Gene Hornbeck, a nephew from Alhambra.

Mrs. George Archer, sister-in-law of Mrs. E. A. Lopp, and Mrs. Montgomery, a friend from Huntington Beach, were recent visitors in Mrs. Lopp's home.

Fern Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Jensen, has been ill for several days.

Dr. and Mrs. U. G. Littell and John Blaylock, of Santa Ana, brother-in-law, sister, and brother of W. W. Blaylock, were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Blaylock. Charles Blaylock was spending the week end at home from Wilmington, was of the family party.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat Burgess and family, who some months ago left for their former home in Kentucky with the intention of remaining returned this week to California and are again established in the Blaylock tract. The children of the family have entered the Oceanview school.

The first practice for the track meet which is to be held between school of this section later in the term has begun at the Oceanview school.

Assembly was called for all of the classes of the local school on Monday morning, when the pupils were allowed the opportunity of listening in on the inaugural address from Washington, D. C. The radio was furnished by Mr. DeLaverne, and he and William Preston, of the school board, were present to install the radio.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Oh, my, I'm groggy," Clowzy cried. "I have a pain right in my side. The goodness of the pancakes made me eat too much. I fear. It's exercise I need right now, but I can't run around, somehow. Instead I think I'll flop me down and take a nap right here."

Wee Scouty jumped and danced a jig. Said he, "You eat just like a pig. Why, I am feeling fine because I didn't eat too much. You never seem to have enough, but always stuff and stuff and stuff. A sign should be on everything for you that reads, 'Don't Touch.'"

By this time Clowzy snored out loud, and this amused the Tiny crowd. He'd fallen fast asleep while Scouty talked. How impolite. Their friend the baker man said, "I think each one should rest his head. You'd all best join tired Clowzy. You can sleep right here all night."

The Tinties all agreed that he was just as right as he could be. And so they flopped down on the ground to sleep until the dawn.

All through the night they slumbered sound and at the break of day they found the funny little maple tree and baker man were gone.

Right down a pathway they all went and about an hour or so was spent in trying to find some other friends. Then they came to a tree. They shook the tree and peaches fell. "Ah, ha," cried Coppy, "This is swell. The peaches look like little girls. I'll bent they'll all like me."

One peach then said, "Be quiet, boys. You're really making too much noise. We'll do a little dance for you, and then we have to scoot." So, after just a little pause the peaches danced and drew applause from all the Tinymites because the dance was very cute.

(The Tinymites find a big cave in the next story.)

SUNSET BEACH

SUNSET BEACH, March 7. — Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Clark, of Fresno, spent the week end in Sunset Beach.

J. H. Worst, president emeritus of North Dakota Agricultural college, now of Fairview, Mont., and Mrs. Worst were guests in the Lyon cottage recently.

Miss Elizabeth Stephens was brought home Saturday from Pasadena, where she fell down the steps of the school she was attending, resulting in a broken ankle.

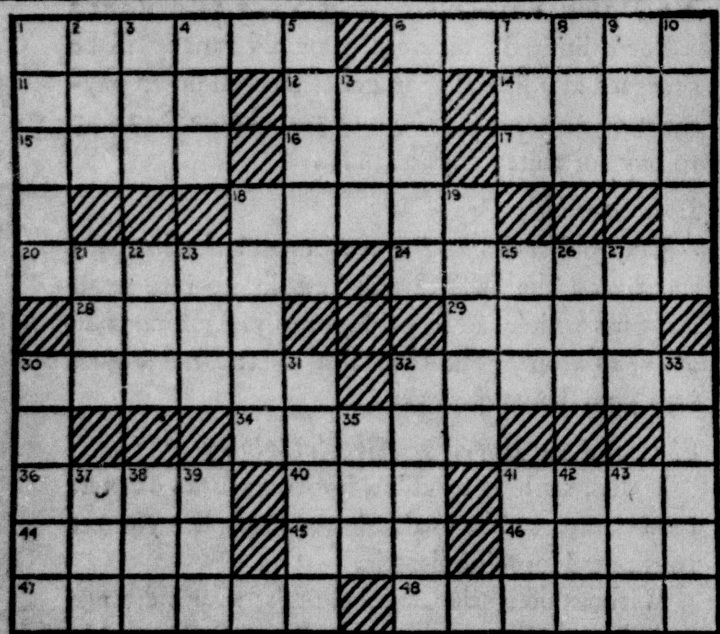

Mrs. Carl Hanky and Mrs. McWilliams, of San Juan Capistrano, were callers here Monday.

S. V. Cortelyou, state highway engineer, called on friends at the beach while on a tour of inspection Monday.

Sunset Beach had a mid-summer appearance Sunday, both in weather and the number of people enjoying the beach. Many who have summer cottages entertained at house parties and picnics. Miss

EVENING SALUTATION

Be it mine to draw from wisdom's fount, pure as it flows, that calm of soul which virtue only knows.

—Aeschylus.

FINE, KEEP IT UP

We want to congratulate the officials of Orange county on their activity in their attempted clean-up of the violations of the prohibition law. There have been stories and rumors that intoxicating liquor could be freely obtained in innumerable places in Orange county, and by the arrests already made it would appear that the situation was bad enough.

We should be reminded that bootleggers cannot succeed unless other citizens furnish them the money for their contraband poison. The appeal President Hoover made the other day to all citizens to obey the law should come with great force to everyone who believes in patriotism and the value of our institutions.

We would be more enthusiastic for a constant enforcement of the law so that it would be more difficult for any violator to continue his violations at any time, than to wait until conditions reach such a pass as they apparently have in Orange county. Spasmodic, even though heroic and effective raids on law violators are not conducive to permanent law observance, for fines can be paid and even short imprisonments can be served by men who are in this exploitation traffic with a feeling that it pays to continue.

We believe the spirit which is now manifested should be continued every day so the foot of a bootlegger can find no permanent resting place in Orange county. When he knows the danger is great every moment, it will tend to reduce the violations to a minimum.

WOMAN CRITICAL AFTER BURNS, says a headline. They get dissatisfied so easily!

PRINCE SELLS HORSES

Familiarity with news stories engenders skepticism of stories of the kind which have been built up around the Prince of Wales selling his horses. The situation called for a type of story dwelling on the Prince of Wales' sacrifice for his duties, with much description of the emotional cost to him. Whatever color may be applied to the fact of the Prince of Wales selling his horses, he undoubtedly has enjoyed his horses more than any other sport. The Prince of Wales is of course a very busy individual, but everyone must have some relaxation and he hardly need have sacrificed his most enjoyable hobby on that account.

But it is highly fitting that he should dispose of his costly stable following his visit to the homes of the destitute miners. This sacrifice the Prince is making to duty or economy makes that expedition ring true. One cannot be greatly moved to acclaim a Prince who one week visits hungry and cold women and children in the mining area and the next week spends at the hunt.

The sale of horses does not need to be announced as an aftermath of the visit to the mines, that would be an unworthy play to the galleries, to cause us to accord the Prince some respect. Even when an individual acts in a highly fitting and proper way, he deserves credit, for many do not so act.

Ex-President Coolidge says he will write some books. So that's why he has been saving his words!

HOPE FOR THE BEST

The battle of the giants in Standard Oil of Indiana is over. Everything has been completed except the announcement of the results. It was no piddling affair. There was nothing cheap about it. It probably cost several times what a presidential election cost forty years ago. Whichever one is worsted he will know he has had a fight. It is one of those cases where you must recognize your enemy as a real belligerent.

While at this writing the figures have not been reported, we are willing to believe that Mr. Rockefeller has won.

The refusal of Mr. Stewart to resign as by agreement, caused Mr. Rockefeller to gird himself for the battle, and he had the most trusted and able lieutenants money could procure. While he is on the other side of the sea, his will has been carried out.

We hope Mr. Rockefeller will be the victor so that other men in similar positions may be able to learn lessons from its outcome. It will have a wholesome effect on the public at large. They will understand that there are some standards of morality in big business.

CHECKING YOUR MIND

A dramatic critic recently censured the modern theatrical and musical producers for making their art too intellectual. In eliminating the emotional element they were losing their constituency. As a matter of habit many were still going to the theater and the opera, but they usually checked their minds where they checked their hats. As some one said of a great symphony concert, "All respected, but none enjoyed." It was Bill Nye who said, "The fine thing about classical music is that it is so much better than it sounds."

We appreciate the suggestion of this dramatic critic. In order to make the finer things enjoyable to the masses, they must be brought somewhere near to the comprehension of the average man. We have often respected where we have not enjoyed. We should like to enjoy as well as respect.

GO SLOWLY

Dispatches from El Paso are to the effect that the American troops are about to be ordered across the Mexican line to drive the Mexicans far enough from American territory to prevent any disasters from stray bullets shot from Mexican muskets.

Well, we will be glad to see them keep their war to themselves. We don't want any of it, and we hope that nervous anxiety on the part of some military leader of our own to get into a fight and make a record will not prompt him to any interference before or unless it is absolutely necessary.

ADVANCE IN EDUCATION

Yale University has just come into possession of $7,500,000 for an Institute of Human Relations. The object of the new foundation is to make the graduate courses of the University more practical than they have been. It has been a growing defect in education that specialization has narrowed the student. After all, every branch of knowledge has its relations not only to every other branch of knowledge, but also to human relationships. This has been forgotten to a large extent in the largely specialized training that is being given in graduate schools. The doctor is very thoroughly trained in materia medica, physiology, and diagnosis, but his training in psychology and the social conditions out of which human ailments arise has not found little place. The lawyer has been trained in his Blackstone, his precedents, and his legal procedure, but he has not been trained as well as he might have been in the social implications of crime and human misunderstanding.

The aim of the new Institute at Yale is to fill in this gap, so that the professional man may have a wider knowledge of all the considerations which enter into his professional practice. The coordination of knowledge has become the crying need of the educational world. Scholars have been so near to their specialty that they have failed to realize the help which might be had from some other scholar engaged in a specialty which is so closely related that the one without the other is incomplete.

In a school of religion, connected with one of the large universities of the country, a great chart was hung up which on examination proved to be the specification for an up-to-date hen house. Students for the ministry today are being trained for the practical aspects of their task. Many of them are going into rural fields, and to know the needs and the problems of their people they must have some knowledge of their people's daily lives. This is one of the new aspects of modern theological training. They are trained no less in the philosophical apprehension of God and the universe and immortality, in the interpretation of the Bible, and other academic phases of their profession, but they are being introduced to the practical aspects of their ministry. The story is told that one of these ministers went into a rural parish and trained his people to build better hen houses. One of these parishioners found that the hen house he had built was so much better than the house in which his family was living that he moved his family into the hen house and his hens into the house in which the family had been living.

To relate knowledge and education to life is at last being recognized. The new Institute of Human Relations at Yale University is destined to round out education in such a way as to promote the well-being of human life. A technical education which does not relate itself to human relationships is barren and inconsequential. It has taken a long time to learn that, but at last it is being learned.

Fatal Dangers Lurk In Unlooked For Corners

San Francisco Chronicle

Automobiles are by no means the sole cause of accidental death in the United States. They are not even responsible for half the fatalities from accident. One of the largest life insurance companies, reporting on the causes of accidental death among its policy holders in 1928, finds the automobile responsible for only 39.2 per cent. And this is a decrease of 3.6 per cent from the figures of 1927.

Drowning and bathing come second to the motor car with 10.3 per cent of the total, and murder shocks us by standing third with 9.2 per cent. Some surprising items arrest attention in the remaining list. Falls stand close to murder as a cause of accidental death. And these are illustrative of the times, for prominent among the cases are those of persons who fell from trees and roofs while fixing aerials.

The horse and mule are not yet out of it. Their kicks accounted for slightly more than 1 per cent of the accidental deaths. The horse and mule seem to be more dangerous than rattlesnakes. Only one death from snakebite was reported, a case from Iowa.

The railroads are low in the list, with only 3 per cent of the accidental deaths. And athletic fatalities are near the bottom with only one-half of one per cent. Hunting accidents were only slightly more.

All told, the list tends to revise in marked fashion the popular notion as to the relative frequency of causes of accidental deaths.

Almond Bloom Now Veils Orchards

San Francisco Chronicle

The almond is the individualist of its family. It is a peach that determined to be different. Let the others produce a luscious pulp, it said; I will show the world that a peach can produce a bland and delicate seed to rank with the lordly walnut. So determining, it let its outside flesh go sere and withered and put all its strength into the pit.

The late Luther Burbank tried to out-almond the almond. If it had done so well by itself, he argued, it might, with a college education, do even 100 per cent better. He worked manfully to persuade it to be both a luscious peach and a fragrant nut. But this was too much to ask of a mere tree. The almond tried, but, like many another, with its attention divided between two objects it failed to achieve either well. The result was neither a good peach nor a good almond.

However, a second individualism. It welcomes the spring ahead not only of the other peaches but of all the other deciduous fruits. In our California orchards the almond is the first to blush with bloom.

The almond is out now and two at least of our California communities are preparing to give recognition to the enterprise of this early riser. Oakdale is to celebrate the almond in a festival on March 10, and Paso Robles, where the blossoms now veil the hillsides, is en fete a la almond tomorrow.

It is fitting thus to honor a benefactor.

Words Per Idea

Christian Science Monitor

The International Standard Electric company of London, Eng., recently announced that tests had shown that the French language is "able to carry the largest average number of ideas during a minute telephone conversation." English coming next, followed by German and then Italian. In the matter of intelligibility over the telephone, however, the order is exactly reversed, Italian being most readily understood, then German, English and French. Those who have the usual three-minute limit and a lot to say can take their choice.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

LINES ON BORNEO

After reading a book about it.
In Borneo the giant ape
Roams roaring here and there;
Reticulated pythons drape
The branches for their lair,
And where the rivers undulate
Among the palm clad isles
By day and night there lie in wait
Large avid crocodiles.

In Borneo, if one by chance Should lean against a limb
A swarm of great and greedy ants
Will make a meal of him,
And when the darkness, black as murk,
Falls from the evening sky
Lean misanthropic leopards lurk
To bite the passerby.

In Borneo a human mite
The silent forest threads
Throughout the watches of the night
Collecting strangers' heads.
And by the number of the foes
He can decapitate
As on his happy way he goes,
He reckons his estate.

Here, underneath the sun's warm smile
Amid the tropic zone
There lies a rich and lovely isle
As yet too little known.
But still, though I am all aglow
Its mysteries to unravel,
I shall not go to Borneo—
I do not care for travel.

UNDULY SEVERE

A New York judge denied citizenship to a man because he carried a hip flask. The poor fellow probably thought that in that way he was qualifying.

Dr. Frank Crane's Friendly Talk

By Dr. Frank Crane

FREEDOM AND DISCIPLINE

Freedom may be an inalienable right, but it is a right to be won, and is not a natural gift.

Nobody is free by nature. The ancients were not free for they were bound by a thousand superstitions and by many of the most cruel conventions.

The king on his throne is not free, for the acts of the royal household are scrutinized by a thousand eyes and are limited by all sorts of rules and customs. As far as freedom is concerned we might as well be doing the lock step in the penitentiary as to be a king.

Savages are not free. They don't roam their native haunts untrammelled and untrammelled from all limitations. You are in more danger of running across something taboo or getting knocked in the head because of some superstition among savages than you are among civilized people.

In front of the Worcester (Massachusetts) court house is the motto, "Liberty is obedience to law," or something like that.

The fact is that if one man has complete liberty nobody else has. He will be constantly infringing upon the rights of others. There cannot be a total liberty for the whole community therefore unless every member of it knows how to restrain himself.

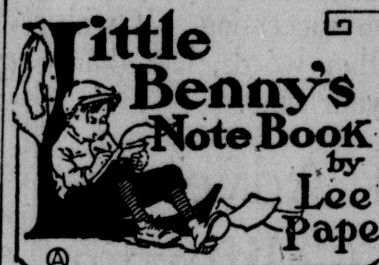

Discipline, therefore, is a necessary training for liberty. Liberty is possible only among disciplined souls and only when there is a respect for law does the poor man have a chance.

Abolish all law and have universal anarchy and out of the chaos would arise the strong men and all rights would be the rights of the strong, which probably would be exercised unmercifully.

Only when law is universally respected and obeyed is there any liberty. The so-called crime wave of Chicago is very largely attributable to the disrespect for the liquor law shown by constituted authorities. All laws stand together. You can't break one without cracking the others.

Whoever expects perfect liberty among his fellows must accustom himself to being master of himself. Only when we control our passions so as not to interfere with the rights of other people and govern our actions by the laws that protect those rights are we capable of having liberty.

Pop was smoking and thinking and ma was darning holes out of stockings, saying to pop, P. Willis Hinkle had a very good article in the paper this evening and I agree with every word of it.

Then it couldnt of been an article in favor of squeezing a tube of tooth paste from the end insted of from the middle, pop sed.

Meening ma always squeezes them from the middle, and she sed, It was an article about children.

O, Im in favor of children, too, pop ged. Im wermly convinced that the children of today are the adults of tomorrow, he sed, and ma sed, O keep still, P. Willis Hinkle says that children are just back upon his hobby, study and sort his collection, plan to add to it, write some letters relating to it, swap some specimens with a faraway friend.

That is one of the best points about collecting. Collectors are usually interesting people and if the idea has persisted long enough to be alive in the child when he is gathering pretty pebbles or shells or pieces of paper. These he carries to his hiding place and gloats over them. This is an old old tendency of mankind and serves more than one useful purpose in educating a child.

It is often the first sign of interest in self help. "I like that. I want it. I'll get it and keep it for myself." That means interest, a sense of need, a note of industry, a thoughtful care. Even if the hoard looks to you like a lot of litter, let it alone until the child of his own accord throws it out.

One collection gives place to the next. The collector gathers advertisements, buttons, seeds, stamps, cards, whatever is suggested by his tastes and environment. Encourage the idea. As the child grows older this interest may widen into a delightful hobby, or a life work. This last possibility is the slightest of all yet it sometimes happens.

A boy or girl needs some strong interest in life to hold him to the daily round when his monotony palls upon him. One cannot always be gay. Lessons grow wearisome. Work grows drab enough. Sometimes play loses its thrill. Then the child can fall back upon his hobby, study and sort his collection, plan to add to it, write some letters relating to it, swap some specimens with a faraway friend.

A boy or girl needs some strong interest in life to hold him to the daily round when his monotony palls upon him. One cannot always be gay. Lessons grow wearisome. Work grows drab enough. Sometimes play loses its thrill. Then the child can fall back upon his hobby, study and sort his collection, plan to add to it, write some letters relating to it, swap some specimens with a faraway friend.

That is one of the best points about collecting. Collectors are usually interesting people and if the idea has persisted long enough to be alive in the child when he is gathering pretty pebbles or shells or pieces of paper. These he carries to his hiding place and gloats over them. This is an old old tendency of mankind and serves more than one useful purpose in educating a child.

It is often the first sign of interest in self help. "I like that. I want it. I'll get it and keep it for myself." That means interest, a sense of need, a note of industry, a thoughtful care. Even if the hoard looks to you like a lot of litter, let it alone until the child of his own accord throws it out.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

THE OWNER ABDICATES

Our civilization has moved, almost without knowing it, into a radically new order.

And the chief mark of this new order is the reduced importance of ownership.

In the old order ownership controlled. In the new order management controls.

Less and less do we find the actual control of great businesses and great industries administered by the men who own them.

Even where businesses and industries are owned by a single family or by the branches of a family, the tendency is to lodge the actual administration in the hands of men versed in the growing science of management.

Every year the base of ownership broadens, fewer and fewer great enterprises being owned by a man or a small family group, more and more great enterprises owned by an army of stockholders.

As this tendency to broaden the base of ownership grows, the scientific manager will become more and more the man who will determine the character and social significance of business and industry.

Already the fact of control is shifting from the hands of the owner to the hands of the manager.

And, what is equally important, the inheritance of control is a diminishing practice in modern business and industry.

H. G. Wells, with his usual uncanny sensing of social trends, discusses this fact, in his "World of William Caxton," in the following fashion:

"Nowadays, though sons or nephews may often prove congenial junior partners, a really vigorous business man is much more likely to care for a capable stranger than for a disinherited son. The latter Caesars did. They were constantly adopting colleague-successors. The most disastrous Caesars were the ones who were born to the purple . . . No energetic directive people are deeply in love with inheritance; it loads the world with incompetent shareholders and wasteful spenders; it chokes the ways with their slow and aimless lives; it is a fatty degeneration of property."

This shift of power from owner to manager, this lessening of the inheritance of control on by inheritance, is coming about, not by radical agitation, but by the growing insight into the best way to run great enterprises.

It will be a new capitalism our children will face.

OUR CHILDREN

COLLECTING

Every active child, and all healthy children are active, hoards something. He begins perhaps by gathering pretty pebbles or shells or pieces of paper. These he carries to his hiding place and gloats over them. This is an old old tendency of mankind and serves more than one useful purpose in educating a child.

It is often the first sign of interest in self help. "I like that. I want it. I'll get it and keep it for myself." That means interest, a sense of need, a note of industry, a thoughtful care. Even if the hoard looks to you like a lot of litter, let it alone until the child of his own accord throws it out.

One collection gives place to the next. The collector gathers advertisements, buttons, seeds, stamps, cards, whatever is suggested by his tastes and environment. Encourage the idea. As the child grows older this interest may widen into a delightful hobby, or a life work. This last possibility is the slightest of all yet it sometimes happens.
